Edison Will Head Board Who Plan For Better Defenses

Washington, July 13.—Announcement by Thomas A. Edison, of his acceptance of Secretary Daniels' offer to head an advisory board of civilian inventors for the proposed bureau of invention and development in the navy department was received with gratification today by naval officials. Secretary Daniels was especially pleased because upon Mr. Edison's acceptance depend almost entirely the development of the secretary's plan of utilizing the inventive genius of the country to aid in perfecting the navy as a fighting machine.

Mr. Daniels, who appealed to Mr. Edison to undertake the task on patriotic grounds, went ahead today with the perfection of his new plans. Details of the proposed organization, however, will not be completed until the secretary has had an opportunity to confer with Mr. Edison, which he hopes to do very soon. It is planned to have men prominent in special lines of inventive and research work associated with the bureau, several names already being under consideration.

One of the big problems to be laid before the new bureau will be that of improving the navy's submarines and aeroplanes, the imperative need of which is recognized. Referring in his letter to Mr. Edison relative to submarine warfare, secretary Daniels said he felt sure that with Mr. Edison's wonderful brain to help them, the officers of the navy would be able "to meet this new danger with new devices that will assure peace to our country by their effectiveness."

Another important task of the bureau will be to make a careful study with a view to their possible adoption of all the numerous suggestions and inventions which are received almost daily by the navy department from naval officers and civilians. These are now handled by the various bureaus already overcrowded in special lines of inventive and research work.

HER SON ACCUSED, SHE DIES

Cincinnati, July 13.—Andrew Mathes, deputy bailiff of the municipal court reported today that Mrs. Catherine Burkmeier, mother of Arthur Burkmeier, fell dead at her home last night when the son told her he had been placed under arrest on a charge filed by a woman. Mathes who had served the warrant on the son, stopped to aid the woman when she fell and saw she was dead. The accused man was allowed to stay at his home.

WRITES TWO LETTERS DEMANDING RELEASE OF MAN SUSPECTED

New Orleans, July 13.—Two more letters signed "Pearce" in which the writer threatens disaster to British merchant and mail ships were delivered here today by mail to an afternoon paper and the other to the chief of police.

In both the writer demanded the release of Hans Halle, held in connection with receipt of similar letters by the New Orleans Times-Picayune Sunday night. Police Chief Reynolds says he regards the letter seriously. Some who have been watching the case closely are inclined to believe today's letters are a hoax. Their phraseology leads some to believe the writer was attempting to adopt the style of the writer of the one received Sunday night.

Halle today appealed through the newspapers for the writer of the first "Pearce" letter to state that he (Halle) had nothing to do with the threats. The writer today stated that Erick Mueuter had "taught him explosives from A to Z and that by one of his methods he could blow up the most of New Orleans within a few hours."

He wrote that he would start at the criminal courts building. He added that ship captains were foolish to look for bombs on ships. He intended to destroy as his methods were more modern. Halle is held as a dangerous and suspicious character.

AUSTRO-GERMANS MEET REVERSES?

London, July 13.—Contradictory reports regarding the extent of the Austro-German reverse at Krassitz, in Southern Russian Poland, continue, some even claiming that the Austro-Hungarians are contemplating a general retreat, but the mystery of the situation is the persistent silence maintained by Field Marshal Von Mackensen, who, apparently, is making no effort to resume the German advance on Warsaw.

Petrograd reasons this inaction of the Germans as being due to the fear of Field Marshal Von Mackensen that his left flank would be exposed, while the Austrians were on the defensive side, but some fear is expressed by London observers that the brilliant military commanding is an unexpected coup.

The German attack on Souchez, where the French advances had threatened the town of Lille may indicate the arrival on the western front of the long expected Teutonic reinforcements, but evidence still is lacking on any concerted offensive on either side along the battle front in France and Belgium.

Germany and Austria-Hungary, according to dispatches from the Balkan states, are using every source to induce Rumania to join military forces with the central powers, or at least to preserve an attitude of friendly neutrality. It is reported that the Austro-Hungarian minister at Bucharest has offered the Rumanian government liberal territorial compensation for armed assistance, countering Russia's offer of Transylvania with that of Bessarabia. Her reward for friendly neutrality is said to be Bukovina as far as the river Pruth.

From Austrian sources comes a report that Russia is giving substantial proof of the possibility of Rumania accepting one of these Teutonic offers by building trenches and entanglements along her Rumanian frontier.

Bulgaria and Turkey are said to have reached a deadlock in their negotiations on account of the refusal of Sofia to do more than preserve a friendly neutrality.

DR. HOLMES, GEOLOGIST, IS DEAD

Denver, Colo., July 13.—Dr. David Austin Holmes, director of the federal bureau of mines at Washington, and geologist, died at his home here early today of tuberculosis. Dr. Holmes had been in poor health for several months. He came to Denver about four months ago with his family in the hope of regaining strength, but grew steadily weaker.

Dr. Holmes was fifty-five years of age and a native of South Carolina. He had been director of the bureau of mines since its creation by congress in 1910.

THREE JAILED IN CINCI HOTEL MURDER

Cincinnati, July 13.—Three men getting information relative to several thefts in the west end of the city was in the barroom of the hotel, when the men under arrest in connection with three other men entered. The police say that Lowry approached Collins and said something to him in an undertone. Collins promptly knocked him down. Then, the police say the others of the crowd began a "fake" fight during which one of the men shot Collins through the heart.

WILL JAIL DISHONEST MERCHANTS

Munich, Bavaria—Via London, July 13.—The order of general commanding the first corps district providing for a maximum of one year's imprisonment for dealers charging excessive prices for articles of daily consumption, including food and eating and lighting substances has been followed by similar orders embracing the entire kingdom of Bavaria.

RESIGNATIONS OF OFFICERS ACCEPTED

Washington, July 13.—On the theory that the safety of the country may rest upon the adequate development of its commercial gun and ammunition factories, Secretary Garrison announced today he had decided to accept the resignation of Lieutenant Colonel Odus C. Horney and Major William A. Phillips, of the army ordnance bureau who have been offered posts with companies holding large munition contracts from European belligerents.

TOLEDO TO GET ART

Toledo, July 13.—Because Brand Whitlock is a Toledoan and because he has made himself the idol of the Belgian people, one of the finest art treasures of the war devastated kingdom will soon hang in the Toledo museum of art. As a token of appreciation for what the people of the United States has done for Belgium Charles Leon Cardon, artist and collector of Brussels has presented to the people of this country the most celebrated painting in his collection. It is Van Dyck's sketch for his picture "Saint Martin Parting with his Horse," according to information just received from Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, by Marshall Sheppey of Toledo.

Score Another Victory For Gen. Gloom; Cupid Whipped

Scene—York Park.
Time—Saturday night.
Setting—Bench surrounded by July days.
Cast of characters—He and She, hero and heroine; active guardian of the peace in Portsmouth; Dan Cupid.

THE SWIRLING WATERS OF THE Ohio river are playing a sentimental game of hide-and-seek with the young man and woman who are sitting on the bench. The young man is looking at his watch, and the young woman is looking at her watch. They are both looking at their watches. The young man is looking at his watch, and the young woman is looking at her watch. They are both looking at their watches.

St. Mary's clock chimes—it is nine o'clock and all is well. One by one the lights over in South Portsmouth flicker and go out—the old ferry, puffing across and back, appears to be getting sleepy. Few words are spoken by He or She, that is, words that mortals could understand.

Suddenly one of the sentries of the Joy camp hisses a warning—a huge dark figure looms near, a blinding flash of light strikes them full in the face and a gruff voice says:

"Say, what are you folks doing here at this time of night?"

JITNEYS MUST GIVE BOND, PAY LICENSE

Ashtabula, O., July 13.—Forty jitney busses were put out of business here today when Common Pleas Judge A. G. Reynolds at Jefferson sustained the validity of a regulatory ordinance approved by the city council here. The ordinance fixed an annual license fee of $25 and bonds of $3,000 to $5,000, dependent upon the size of the car. The police court here held the ordinance illegal and the city appealed the case. Jitney owners say the ordinance is prohibitive and have withdrawn their cars.

U. S. NOTE MAY BE DELAYED FOR WEEK

Washington, July 13.—Consideration of the German reply to the American note on submarine warfare overshadowed all else today in the work of state department officials. Secretary Lansing spent most of the time preparing data and opinions for the next communication to be sent to Germany and he indicated that very probably he would not go to Corvish, but that President Wilson would return here at the end of the week.

The situation was described in official quarters as critical and there was no concealment of the fact that relations between Germany and the United States had become more strained than at any other time of their history.

High officials said the policy of the American government would be carefully worked out and that in order to meet the situation firmly the utmost deliberation was required.

This information was given out in order that a delay of possibly a week or more in preparing an answer might not be interpreted as meaning that the United States intended in any way to recede from the position it had taken in the two notes already sent to Berlin.

MY HAT AIN'T IN TAI'RING

If there's anything I ever regretted it's the fact that I didn't join in on the republican race for mayor. That's about the merriest Donnybrook affair that's come off in these parts in a long time and here I'm not in it. If anybody knows of another free-for-all that's comin' off anyways soon please let me know. That G. O. P. scrap makes me feel lonely. Here's for tomorrow:

Ohio—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday. Not much change in temperature.

Kentucky and West Virginia—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday. Not much change in temperature.

Washington, July 13.—Weather predictions for the next week beginning tomorrow issued by the weather bureau today included:

Ohio Valley—Partly cloudy with occasional thunder showers probable during next three or four days. Considerably cooler and fair weather probable following July 17.

Donkey Socials, Kissing Bees, Pool Tables, Etc., Are Scored

The gospel tent at Gallia and Offense will be a "dry tent" tonight, regardless of the weather, when "Temperance" will be discussed.

"God's Plan for the Support of His Church" was Rev. Olmsted's subject last evening. "Fishing, or giving a tenth of one's income would forever settle, if adopted, many perplexing problems in the churches, and make unnecessary some of the questionable methods resorted to in raising money to 'pay the parson.'"

The speaker referred to the need of cleansing the temple at Jerusalem by the Saviour at the beginning of his ministry, and again at its close just before his crucifixion, and the inference was evident that should Christ come to earth again it might be necessary for him to cleanse some of the temples dedicated to the worship of God, but which have to some extent been converted into social centers where suppers, lotteries and questionable amusements are given to "draw a crowd." The Saviour said: "My house is the house of prayer, but ye have made it a den of thieves."

Donkey socials, church suppers, kissing bees, billiard, pool and card tables in the churches were all condemned as being incompatible to the spirit and intent of the gospel, the church was said to be a place for worship rather than a place for entertainment; a Bethel instead of Babel.

Titling is mentioned in Genesis 14 and again in Genesis 28. Abraham paid tithes to Melchisedec over four centuries before it was given to Israel at Sinai, and Jacob promised the Lord at Bethel, that if he would give him the necessities of life and permit him to return to his father's house in peace he would surely return the tenth unto the Lord.

The Saviour approved tithing in Matthew 23:23. "Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, for ye pay tithes of mint, and anise, and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy and faith, these ye ought to have done, if ye not to leave the other."

Remarks on the subject in a winning way in 1 Cor. 9:13-14. "Do ye not know that they which minister about holy things live of the things of the temple? And they which wait at the altar are partakers with the altar? Even so hath the Lord ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel."

Mrs. L. D. Barton, of Vinton avenue, received a letter Saturday from her husband, who is at Craig Springs, Va., for his health. He writes that he feels much better and is more than pleased with the place. He was employed as N. & W. conductor.

KILLING CASES BEING PROBED

Examination of witnesses in connection with the killing of Bernard Friel on Saturday night, June 12th, occupied the attention of the grand jury Tuesday morning, which convened at nine o'clock. Slow progress was being made in the examination of witnesses, indicating that the grand jury was delving deeply into the alleged crime of which Joseph Bartram and William Patton are accused.

Plea For Bess And Fronie Turned Down

Rev. W. H. Chapman, pastor of Pleasant Green Baptist church, made a plea that fall on deaf ears when he asked the mayor Tuesday to release Bess Hurd and Fronie Hollingsworth from the Cincinnati workhouse. The mayor informed the minister that nothing on earth would ever induce him to release the two colored girls who he said would remain in the workhouse until January 1, 1916. The social conditions of the city are better, he said, with them safely put away and human life no longer endangered in the northern part of the city. The minister agreed with him explaining his visit was simply the carrying out of a request made by relatives of the two girls.

Pretty Maids Will Have A Fine Time

Columbus, Ohio, July 12.—An official reception by Governor Willis and his staff and a banquet at the Southern hotel, presided over by Mayor Karb and Mrs. Karb, followed by an afternoon at the Hartman theatre, will be a part of the entertainment offered the fifty most beautiful women in Ohio, as chosen by the motion picture public.

These fifty girls will be filmed in animation by the American Art Film company and the six receiving the highest number of votes will be guests of the film company on the Ohio Beauty Special, which leaves Columbus August 12 for a month's tour of the west.

The most interesting announcement of the week in connection with the contest is the statement of the Exposition Tourists company, of Columbus, which is booking the reservations on the train, that Governor H. V. Stewart of Montana, himself a former Ohioan, will tender an official reception to the party at Helena. Miss Hazel Holcomb and Miss Alma Davis of Portsmouth are among the first fifty.

Unnecessary Risk? Mr. Bryan Explains

Hermosa Beach, Calif., July 13.—William J. Bryan, former secretary of state, who is spending a brief vacation here with his son, issued a statement today in explanation of what he meant by "unnecessary risk" contained in his comment in connection with the last German vote. He said any traveler takes unnecessary risk when he goes into the war zone on a belligerent ship, knowing that it is subject to attack by a submarine. A traveler also takes unnecessary risks when he rides on a neutral ship carrying ammunition. "I would believe that our government would be justified in separating passengers from ammunition, but until this is done, American travelers would be justified in refusing to take passage on a belligerent ship or a neutral ship carrying ammunition.

SUFFERED 15 YEARS WITH PSORIASIS

Weeks at a Time in Such Misery Did Not Get a Night's Rest. Used Cuticura. In 18 Weeks Entirely Well.

Mr. N. Mesaba Ave., Virginia, Minn.—"Since I was fourteen years of age I suffered with psoriasis. I was suffering for fifteen years. For the last nine or ten years it would come and go but each appearance would be longer and more severe until it refused to leave as all until I got so bad that I could not do any work. At times there was not a place on my entire body, excepting my face and hands that was not covered. Weeks at a time I would be in such misery that I did not get a night's rest. My body was covered with thick white scales and under them was as red and inflamed as blood. They would crack open some half an inch in length.

My husband was telling a friend of the condition I was in, and he too had been a sufferer of the same trouble and had been treated by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I at once commenced the treatment. In fifteen weeks I was completely well. (Signed) Mrs. Edwin Mitchell, June 22, 1914.

Appeal Taken

An appeal has been taken to common pleas court by the Portsmouth Street Railroad and Light Company from the verdict in Squire Byron's court on July 6, by which William Wilson was awarded judgment for $300 for alleged damages sustained in a collision between a street car and a motorcycle on which he was riding at Fourth and Chillicothe streets on June 14, 1915. Wilson claims that the motorist failed to sound warning of the car's approach, and that the collision was due to his negligence, an allegation that is denied by the company.

Wilson alleges that he sustained numerous bruises and scratches to his body, a severe injury to his left knee, and damages to the motorcycle amounting to $35. Mark A. Crawford, represented Wilson, and Milner, Miller and Searl, the street railway company. A transcription of the proceedings in Squire Byron's court was filed in the court of common pleas Tuesday morning by the company's attorneys.

BUY TORPEDO NETS FOR U. S. WARSHIPS

Washington, July 13.—For experimental purposes the navy department has purchased several torpedo nets to hang around battleships and protect them from torpedo attacks. Secretary Daniels said today these were of the same type as those employed by European navies. Experiments are now going on with the nets aboard one of the ships on the Atlantic Fleet. Similar experiments made some time ago produced no very definite results.

The nets are composed of wire links and high speed modern torpedoes have torn their way through them in previous tests. The British battleship Triumph, sunk by a torpedo in the Dardanelles is said to have had nets out which were penetrated. Preparations to equip battleships with nets were made when the last few ships were launched. The nets hang to a depth of thirty feet or more from the ship's side. They constitute a chain mail about her and torpedoes are discharged when they strike the nets. Relatively small damage results except to the net, which is torn, leaving a hole through which a second torpedo can get home. Some officers are not overconfident of the success of the net experiment, but believe it wise to have no stone unturned in an effort to protect battle ships from submarines. It is said that nets are no use except to ships at anchor. The British navy has always been equipped with nets, but the present tendency, it is said, is to discard them.

ELKS WILL ELECT OFFICERS TODAY

Los Angeles, Calif., July 13.—Election of officers and the transaction of routine business were on the program today at the opening session of the grand lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. The only contest which has developed is for the office of Grand Trustee to succeed James R. Nicholson, of Springfield, Mass. Edward Masters, of Charleston, Pa., is the leading candidate. It was practically conceded today that the following officers would be chosen: Grand Exalted Ruler, James R. Nicholson, Springfield, Mass.; Grand Leading Knight, W. P. Schach, Milwaukee, Wis.; Grand Loyal Knight, William L. Owen, postmaster at Saginaw, Mich.; Grand Tyler, Thomas E. Donohue, New London, Conn.; Grand Inner Guard, Charles Black, Oklahoma City; Grand Secretary, Fred C. Robinson, Dubuque, Ia.; Grand Treasurer, Charles M. White.

Many Gather For Old Murder Trial

Bedford, Iowa, July 13.—Crowds gathered here today from half a dozen counties for the preliminary hearing of Bates Huntman, Samuel Scrivner, John and Henry Danwood, charged with the murder of a Missouri cattleman and his son near Siam, Iowa, 47 years ago. Among the witnesses here was Samuel Anderson whose plans for a civil suit against the defendants for a division of $90,000 treasure said to have been buried on a farm near Siam, Iowa, led to an investigation by the state attorney general's office and the arrest of the four men.

The money was said to have been taken from the cattleman by a gang of counterfeiters who murdered him. Mrs. Maria Collins Porter of Quitman, Missouri, who has a girl, witnessed scenes following the alleged murders, also was here to testify.

Jury In Dairy Case Can't Reach Verdict

Columbus, July 13.—When a jury in the United States district court retired to the jury room again at 9 o'clock this morning it had not reached a verdict in the case of Dennis Kelly, millionaire, and other officers and large stockholders in the Capital City Dairy Co. They are alleged to have conspired to defraud the government out of several million dollars. The case was given to the jury late yesterday and after six hours' deliberation the jurors last night asked to be excused from further consideration of a verdict until today.

The Capital City Dairy company through its officials Dennis Kelly, W. H. Elbert, M. Lea Corbett and W. H. Kelly is alleged to have evaded taxes on oleomargarine during several years.

Military Policy To Be Reported Soon

Washington, July 13.—The report of the board of army officers working out a military policy to be submitted to congress probably would be completed, it became known today, early next month. This will give Secretary Garrison ample time to prepare his estimates by October and in time for a special session of congress should one be called for that month. No hint as to the increases in men or guns to be recommended by the board has been given out.

A general review of the work thus far accomplished will be made Wednesday night by the board when Secretary Garrison will be present.

Agricultural Board Awaits Opinion

Columbus, July 13.—The state agricultural commission at its meeting today awaited anxiously an opinion from Attorney General Turner, interpreting the law passed in 1913 prohibiting the importation into the state of "all dairy cows and meat cattle for breeding purposes" suffering from tuberculosis or other disease.

Live stock dealers, particularly those in Cincinnati are making a fight against the commission's interpretation of the law, and contending for the right to import diseased stock if it is not meant for breeding. The commission interprets the law as if a comma were placed after the word "cows" in the law, thus forbidding importation of all diseased dairy animals whether meant for slaughter or for breeding. With the prospective early raising of the foot and mouth quarantine from Hamilton county stock yards, the question threatens to be agitated strongly.

Homer C. Price, formerly dean of the college of agriculture, Ohio State University, who left that position recently, was absent from the commission's meeting today for the first time. He had been a member ex-officio. His removal left the commission divided predominantly against the question of reducing the admission to the state fair from 50 to 25 cents, two against, and one for. Members Sandles and Williams were opposed and Shrode favorable to the proposal.

About a score of applicants today took the state examinations for certificates to practice veterinary medicine. Among them were several old veterinarians who practiced before the state law.

MAY QUASH RULE.

Elkins, W. Va., July 13.—Arguments on the motion made yesterday to quash the rule for contempt were resumed when the hearing of the contempt case against H. C. Ogden, Wheeling publisher, was opened here today before Judge Edmund Waddell in the United States district court. The case grew out of the appeal of the Manufacturers' Light and Heat company from a decision from the public service commission of West Virginia lowering its rate. C. A. Weil, counsel for the prosecution, and Judge John H. Holt for the defense, were to be heard and it was expected a ruling on the motion would not be made until later in the day.

Books Mailed Out.

Books containing the valuations of properties in the various taxing districts of the county were mailed out from the district assessor's office Tuesday to those taxpayers whose properties showed an increase over last year. Those whose valuations remain the same will not receive books.

AN EFFECTIVE PLAN.

In the Marion Star we find this article, which ought to be useful as a hint to Scioto county:

"It develops the Marion county commissioners have adopted the most effective and most economic method of improved road maintenance which is possible, and great good is resulting. Road rollers and crews are being employed on the roads needing attention—rollers hired from contractors, since the county has never invested extensively on its own account—and splendid results are being accomplished. The old stretch of pike is scarified thoroughly, then rolled to a new and even and smooth surface, and the result is most gratifying. There are stretches where the roads in this county thus treated are vastly superior to roads resurfaced at heavy outlay, and those who have watched the work say that the resurfaced roads will wear much better than much of the costly new construction.

Commissioner Thompson says that a sum of $150 to $200 expended on a five-mile stretch each season will keep our stone roads in excellent repair. Obviously, then, this is the course to pursue. Every roller which can be chartered at a reasonable cost ought to be kept busy. When construction makes the chartered roller impossible, the county ought to buy and operate its own rollers. If we can have maintained pikes at little cost, it is infinitely preferable to delayed and expensive general repair.

Chartered rollers and crews are costing twelve dollars per day. It is suggested that three of them can cover ten miles per week. The statement may be strong. But ten miles per week for half the year would mean 250 miles of ideal roads. If the maintenance were kept up on roads when they first begin to rot and wear, the mileage could be largely increased."

It is to be supposed that heretofore Marion county, like almost every other county in the state has been squandering road money for improvements that did not improve. How true that is, at least, as applied to Scioto every one is familiar with by loud and long reiteration, if not by actual observation. In ten years, leaving out the sums spent on brick roads Scioto has spent around three quarters of a million dollars on road repairing. It would be a hardy soul, indeed, that would claim the highways are essentially better than they were at the beginning of the decade.

The way to betterment is long and slow, but it is clear enough. Every dollar possible should be spent on laying down a permanent road, and inversely every dollar possible should be saved in making temporary repairs. Then with this should be built the policy now being carried out in Marion county, a regular and intelligent system of repair, though we are of the opinion that system could be improved on and a vast sum eventually be saved by creating the patrol system by which the roads would be divided into sections and each section given over to constant care of one individual. With the introduction of the automobile, so that a commissioner could cover frequently and in a short time the general road division allotted to him the patrol system could be made particularly effective.

BUT WHY DEPLORABLE?

Commenting on an incident at Salem, West Virginia, on the Fourth of July, when an anarchistic restaurant keeper ran up the red flag above the stars and stripes, the Huntington Herald-Dispatch observes: "Rioting is deplorable, no matter what the time, place, or circumstance, yet there seems to be cases where it is inevitable and the only answer."

We can not see, in this case, that it was inevitable, if the action of the mob in assembling and coercing the taking down of the rag of anarchy may properly be called rioting. It is a curious fact that there is no law of the land to cover such crime as was perpetrated in the incident under consideration. Perhaps, it is just as well, even better to leave the citizenry itself the privilege, the right of enforcement, even of punishment—it will be certain, sure, instant and altogether impressive. The flag stands for the individual right and protection, the insult to it becomes the wrong to all as individuals and by each and every one must it be so regarded and resented. What was in the thought of the fathers that they did not conceive it necessary to enshroud respect and honor for it by diverse pains and penalties, is unknown and immaterial so long as the people themselves hold it reverent and are fit to have its stars and stripes float proud and glorious over them.

There are moments when, as we despairingly think about writing an able article teeming with advice as to how to run the city government, we really wonder how it happened that the mayor never thought of us as suitable material for managing the lady nurses out at the hospital but instead had to go and offer the job to various other men about town.

When it comes to street fairs we reckon it will go with the saying that the Peerless out peerless 'em all.

We quite agree with a contemporary in the thought that it is altogether delightful to have the Fourth of July come on Sunday—if one happens to be postmaster.

Rather a curious fact that we hear no mention at all of any Mexican vice president. Certain thing then they can't have any replica of Thomas Marshall in that unblest land.

What so perfect and beyond compare as a July day like Monday!

WILLIAM CAN'T SEE IT.

THE SALE OF MUNITIONS.

One of the best editorials we have seen lately in explanation of the sale of war munitions to warring powers and the unreasonableness of German partisans who are crying out against the sale of munitions to the allied powers, appeared recently in the Cincinnati Times-Star. It is given below and is commended to consideration as an unbiased view of the matter:

"The systematic agitation for an embargo on munitions from this country has already led to the attempted assassination of J. P. Morgan, a bomb outrage in the national Capitol, and numerous depredations to which more or less publicity has been given. It is now apparent that an effort will be made to inject the question as an issue into the next national campaign.

"The question should be examined entirely from an American viewpoint. There is no rule of international law that prohibits the exportation of munitions. Germany has been an exporter of arms during wars in which she was not engaged. Any nation could approach the foundries of the Krupp, who have shown a fine impartiality in the sale of munitions. When the present war began, our laws, to which no previous objection had been made, permitted the American manufacturer of war material to bargain with the world. But the allies speedily secured control of the seas, and closed German markets to contraband. It was then that partisans asked the United States to change its laws to fit existing conditions according to the desires of the German government. In other words, Uncle Sam was asked to adapt the law of the land to the necessities of one of the belligerents, about as unneutral an act as the imagination can conceive this side of a declaration of war. It is our plain duty to preserve the status of our legislation so far as it relates to the warring nations.

"If the United States should place an embargo on arms upon the demand of one of the belligerents, the possibilities of the future would not be pleasant to contemplate. In the event of war with Japan, our nation would be forced to look to Europe for assistance in the supply of ordnance, ammunition and all the other paraphernalia that goes with modern warfare. It would be then that our embargo would rise to plague us. Japan could insist with reason, employing our former embargo as a precedent, that European nations were violating "more enlightened" international law by selling us munitions. Indeed, we should have no moral right to ask Europe to supply us with shells with which to kill Japanese. And by the time we had sufficiently equipped our factories for our own needs, fully prepared Japan would be holding an exposition on the Pacific coast to celebrate the accession of American territory.

"The absence of an embargo, however, is now creating in the United States a class of labor skilled in the manufacture of munitions as well as factories equipped for the purpose. At the end of the war Uncle Sam will know more about the manufacture of ordnance and shells than he ever did before. We shall become far less dependent than we were upon Essen, Creusot and Safford for our self defense.

"And as to the moral phase of Uncle Sam's new business, it is well to remember that the old gentleman did not start the war, he does not want to get into the war, and he did not go armed for years as if fighting were the chief business of man."

OLD NEW YORK

New York, July 13.—Those quarrelsome neighbors The Tribune and The Sun have at last separated. In the decades that they have been side by side many wars have been fought, but now The Sun has left its little four-story brick home for a sky piercing pile of marble and stone.

Many were the feuds, interchanges of editorial thunders and wordy battles carried on across the narrow intervening party walls of The Sun and The Tribune. Some one once wrote: "The Sun is a little bit of humor, almost surrounded by The Tribune."

And many are the New Yorkers who remember the day when a small fire in The Tribune shop induced the fire department to lavish thousands of gallons of water upon the establishment and inspired Lindsay Dusenbury to write in The Sun the next day: "But The Tribune came out this morning just as dry as ever."

Now that The Sun has gone to its new home many wonder how Mr. Dana's owl will enjoy his new perch, whether the monumental cockroaches of other generations will accomplish the great begins and what effect the elevator will have upon the editorial pages of The Sun.

The Socialists in New York object strenuously to the fuss that the "capitalist press" makes about the Morgan shooting. "If he were a poor man," one Socialist told Franklin P. Adams, "there would not be so much publicity."

And observed Adams, "if he were a poor man, Frank Holt, the assassin, would not have gone off his head about him either."

Young Julius Morgan, the son of the wounded financier, declared that he was amazed at the accuracy the newspapers showed in handling the accident. The day following the shooting the stories contained the news that Mr. Morgan smoked a cigar and the captured ad-writers who composed the jumpy cigarette ads gnashed their bicuspids.

Heart Strings

The strings of my heart are slender,
But so many they form a strand
And the ties they bind, though tender
Are as strong as an iron band.

Loyal the ties of Friendship,
Precious the faith and trust,
That a friend who will help us in trouble
From a sympathy—not that he must.

Sweet are the ties of Duty
When conscience they obey;
To others bearing blessings—
"Well done" their reward alway.

Vibrant the ties of Love are
To the music of Love's command,
Though sacrifice by their portion
Hearts are happy that understand.

The strings of the heart are slender,
But so many they form a strand
And the ties they bind though tender
Are strong as an iron band.

The Markets

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, July 13.—War stocks were again the dominant features at the opening of today's market, with new high records for Bethlehem steel, New York Air Brake and General Motors. American Can, which bears some relation to war issues also sold at a record quotation, likewise Republic Steel preferred. Various industrial and equipment shares rose 1 to 2 points, with seven points for Cuban sugar and an additional 12 for American coal products. Such speculative favorites as United States Steel, Union Pacific and Reading were practically unchanged while St. Paul and Canadian Pacific were heavy.

The temptation to take profits on the rise caused a general reaction before the end of the first hour with losses in Canadian Pacific, New York Central, New Haven and American Smelting extending from 1 to 2 points while Coal Products and Cuban Sugar yielded virtually all their early gains and Bethlehem Steel fell two points under yesterday's close. The comparative inactivity of the usual leaders after the first hour was a noteworthy feature, these issues being completely eclipsed by the specialties. Future sales of fives at unchanged prices were the features of the bond market.

Prices fell off in the late trading with heaviness in Union and Canadian Pacific, American Smelting and in a few other active issues.

Chicago, July 13.—Prospects of increased receipts here had a bearish effect today on the price of wheat. Selling by cash houses started the market downward, and special attention was given to the favorable weather in Illinois, where as Kansas rains were largely ignored. The opening, which ranged from 1c off to 1/2c advance was followed by a decided general setback before a recovery began.

Corn eased off on account of improved weather and the sag in wheat values. Buyers were scarce. After opening 1/2c @ 1/4 down to a shade advance, the market underwent a limited decline all around.

In the oats trade, the governing influence was the bearish action of other grain. Buying was restricted mainly to resting orders not operative except at losses to sellers.

Provisions scored gains. The belief was general that at least for the present liquidating sales had come to an end.

Later the market showed decided strength, the result of confirmation of the black rust news. It was said also that conditions were exactly of the kind to promote the seed of rust and traces of the plague had been found in North Dakota and Minnesota. Large exports were announced. The close was strong at 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 net advance.

Subsequently when wheat started upgrade corn followed, but met with considerable opposition. The close, however, was strong at the same as last night to 3/4 higher.

Policeman Becomes a Banker

LIEUTENANT JOHN DOWNEY of the Chicago police force resigned on July 6th to become the head of the Dauphin Park Bank.

During his twenty-three years' service he earned about $29,000 from the city, and has accumulated a fortune, it is said, of $100,000.00 by investments in real estate.

Here is a man of 45, who, through, careful investing, has turned the difference between twenty-nine thousand and his living expenses into a hundred thousand. He did it buying lots, building cottages and then selling at a profit.

At first this feat seems wonderful, and indeed it was. But when you stop to think how a nucleus, saved in bank, may be turned over, increased and turned over again by careful and judicious handling, it doesn't seem so difficult, after all.

THE FIRST STEP IN SAVING AND INVESTING IS A SAVINGS ACCOUNT

THREE YOUNG MEN ARE HELD UP AND ROBBED

Three of Portsmouth's rising and promising young citizens, Ellsworth Dannon, Harold Thompson and Ed Frank, were scared out of several years growth and relieved of all their money, amounting to $2.60, by two bad, bold and heartless highwaymen late Monday evening. The scene of the hold-up was the darkest spot on the boulevard. The young men, who had walked leisurely until they encountered the hold-up twins, broke all speed records in getting home and declare upon their honor that never again will they traverse the dark thoroughfare.

The trio of young men had almost reached the paved pike and were on terminating themselves by singing "Three Brave Men Out On a Lark" when from behind a clump of bushes the highwaymen jumped out with drawn guns, that to the boys looked as though they had openings big enough to accommodate a head of cabbage.

"Up with yer hands," yelled one of the masked gunmen, and the boys complied like trained actors. Their knees shook like they had suddenly become afflicted with the palsy of the 33rd degree variety, their teeth clattering like so many ague victims. The highwaymen went through the boys' pockets, getting $1.25 from Frank, 75 cents from Dannon and 40 cents from Thompson. Frank and Thompson were also relieved of their pocket-knives. After reaching home and recovering their composure, the young men declared that the night was so dark and they were so badly scared that they really could not give much of a description of the two highwaymen. They declare they do not know whether they were white or black, the only thing of which they are sure that the gunmen were fully seven feet tall and had guns that looked like cannon.

Young Dannon is congratulating himself that he succeeded in preserving his watch, which rested secure in his fob pocket during the hold-up and which was overlooked by the highwaymen.

WANT 5 TRAINS

Officials of the Lucasville Fair were in conference with District Passenger Agent John L. Bladon, of the N. & W. and Passenger Agent R. E. Scott of this city Tuesday relative to the N. & W. operating five special trains to the Lucasville Fair, which will be held August 17, 18, 19 and 20. It was stated that the N. & W. will give its answer on the proposition Friday.

BABE FALLS 26 FEET

The twenty-six months' old child of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wilson of Waverly fell twenty-six feet out of the second story of her parents' home to the basement below Monday afternoon, sustaining a fracture of the left arm and serious lacerations about the head. It is thought it will live. Her father was struck by a D. T. & I. train last Christmas, and has not wholly recovered from his injuries.

Ran Auto In Barn; If Seriously Injured

Lyman Beckman, well known insurance agent of Waverly, was seriously injured last Sunday evening in an automobile accident on the Sunfish Pike near Waverly. In trying to steer his machine while standing on the running board he was thrown against a barn near the road and knocked unconscious. Thirteen stitches were taken to sew up his head and he was unconscious until Monday at noon. He will recover. Beckman had stopped his car to wait for a train to go by and he and his family got out. When he started the engine again the automobile started, and he jumped on the running board to try to stop it.

Mrs. Allen Whaley of Columbus, came down to Portsmouth Tuesday to regain the custody of her two daughters, Maud, 14, and Ethel, 12, whom she claims were taken from her mother, Mrs. Boyd, of Union Mills, by her husband, by misrepresentation. Upon hearing her story, Judge Beatty ordered the police to get the children and return them to her.

Whaley had left the older girl with his mother on Third street, and the younger one with Mrs. Christina Delatell of 610 Market street. While Officer Roy Moore was obtaining possession of the older one, Whaley's brother, Charles, insisted to the Delatell home and secured the younger girl, whom he took to Harry Ball's office. Judge Beatty found out where she was and ordered her delivered to Officer Moore. Later the two children were committed to Mrs. Boyd for the next three weeks, during which the mother will find a permanent home for them.

When Whaley and his wife were separated some time ago, Mrs. Whaley was given the custody of the children. About three weeks ago Whaley told Judge Beatty that his former wife had left the city and had left the children without any care. On this representation the court allowed him the custody of the children.

Roger Selby Finds Florida A Land Of Beauty And Of Promise; Is Not "So Hot"

To many northerners a journey to Florida in mid-summer would sound like a short sentence to Hades, while to the confirmed Floridian the summer exodus from Florida by the uninitiated is foolish. It was partly to test these conflicting claims as well as for business reasons that Roger Selby spent about a week over the Fourth of July in the country surrounding the little city of Lakeland in the heart of the state. He reports that the climate, admirable in winter, is "not so bad" even in summer. To be sure the temperature is higher, but two other conditions serve to make the situation bearable: first the air is quite dry, and tends to readily absorb any surplus moisture whose presence makes one uncomfortable in warm climates; and secondly, there is almost always a breeze which largely counteracts even a hot sun. The movement of the air currents is easily understood when it is recalled that the peninsula of Florida is only a little more than one hundred miles wide, is bounded on the east by the Atlantic and the west by the Gulf of Mexico, while land elevations do not reach more than five hundred feet above the sea level.

Sewing Circle With Much Whispering

Before the store arrives there is much to talk about. The comfort of the expectant mother is the chief topic. And there is sure to be someone who has used or knows of that splendid external heat, "Mother's Friend." It is applied to the abdominal muscles, gently rubbed in and has a most pronounced effect as a lubricant. It soothes the work of nerves, enables the muscles to speed naturally, relieves strain on the ligaments and thus acts at once any undue strain on the organs involved. And it does this with effect safety. Experienced mothers thus go through the ordeal with comparative ease and comfort. Knowing mothers who have used "Mother's Friend" speak in glowing terms of a absence of morning sickness, dizziness or pain on the ligaments and a freedom from any other distress.

You can get "Mother's Friend" at any drug store or they will gladly get it for you. Write day to Bradford Regulator Co., 401 Lamar St., Atlanta, Ga., for a highly instructive book of great value to all expectant mothers. Contains a valuable expectancy chart, rules, diet and is brimful of suggestions that all women will appreciate.

and beautiful. In the lower regions the hardwoods grow in profusion and the denseness of the growth rivals conditions farther south. The ever present dull gray Spanish moss which everywhere drapes itself in long pendant strands from every tree dead or alive lends an appearance to all woods not found in the north. In spite of the many beautiful spots readily located however it must be confessed that a considerable portion of the flat land is as ordinary as similar lands elsewhere. Plentiful water is obtained in the lowlands from artesian wells while higher up it is only necessary to pump. Limited portions of the state furnish excellent soil for citrus culture and the production of oranges and grape fruit especially is growing immensely in Florida. California grapefruit is not of a sufficiently high quality to be in competition and the ever increasing appreciation of the public for this luscious edible is creating a demand which in turn is leading to the planting of the large areas of grapefruit groves in Florida. Groves composed of budded trees are superseding the old seedling groves. For this purpose the young trees are grafted onto roots a year or more older in the nursery and then set out. They are not allowed to bear until they are five or six years old to permit them to use their full strength to grow, after which with proper care they bear prolifically and are a profitable investment. Like other fruit trees, they require occasional cultivation, fertilizer, pruning and spraying but unlike them the ripe fruit can be allowed on the trees sometimes for months without serious deterioration awaiting the convenience of the pickers or the improvement of the market. This condition whereby what cannot be done today can be performed tomorrow makes plain in part the chronic condition of indolent indifference ascribed to the "Crackers" or native Floridians—because the orange trees look care of themselves mostly and the climate required little in the way of clothing or shelter.

Good Story On "The Old Cracker"
The oldtime Crackers do the least possible and make no effort to improve conditions, merely taking what the Lord provided out of his bounty. An illuminating story is told of the meeting of a rural mail carrier with an old Cracker who was driving a pig and leading a horse attached to a wagon. After meeting the old man the third time and noting that he had made but little progress in the three days the mailman made bold to inquire if matters could not be expedited by placing the razor-back in the wagon and driving him to market. To this the Cracker replied after meditation, "Well that might help some" and then added laconically "but what is three days to a hog?"

Another circumstance which has not encouraged the general development of the country has been the easy money which has been made out of the phosphate industry. A large portion of the world's deposits of this distinguished animal matter which is an important constituent of commercial fertilizer appears to be located in Florida. The practical monopoly this field has made many holders of phosphate bearing lands wealthy. The huge excavations made by these mining operations immediately fill with water and constitute additional lakes of an artificial nature.

Immigration
Increasing
Immigration to Florida is now setting in rapidly and it should not be long before this remarkable state is thoroughly settled. It seems passing strange that the advantages of this beautiful and fertile spot close at home should have been so long overlooked for the great west. One condition which has handicapped the development of the country has been the absence of good roads but the people have awakened to this deficiency and are applying the remedy. Of the forty miles between Lakeland and Tampa, for instance, nearly half has now been paved. The usual road material, however, is the sandy clay found in scattered spots. This makes a smooth road surface which is not slippery and readily sheds water when properly crowned. When seeing the interior of the country the necessity for negotiating the deep sand and soft swamps and dogging the trees in the pine woods gives the premier position to the ubiquitous Ford and there appear to be as many of them about as there are people. They are certainly bearers of great burdens, subject to much abuse, and withal giving an excellent account of themselves.

The many trails through the woods where roads have not been built are highly illustrative of the general shiftlessness which formerly prevailed in the country. They literally follow the path of least resistance. The numerous forks off a continuous choice and when one is chosen it wanders off in a promiscuous fashion giving little hint of whither it leads or what it portends. With no sense of direction, tortuous beyond belief, they become two parallel runs which must be followed as a car on a track, without much regard for the preferences of the driver. Stalks which grow between these runs and trees on the edge of them must be taken on faith as considerable space must be maintained in such heavy going. The continuous pitching and jerking of the car as it hits the bumps makes life anything but uninteresting for the occupants. If a tree chances to fall across the trail it merely goes around it thereafter, while a deep mudhole is beneath notice.

Dairy Farms Are Needed
One great need of the country is for dairy farms as at present it furnishes too excellent a market for condensed milk and cream. There is much the same lack of poultry and fresh meat. Train service with the north is good. One condition which cannot be overemphasized is the great beauty of the lakes which everywhere dot the landscape. These vary in size from small pools to great basins covering many square miles, and undoubtedly add a picturesque quality which is most attractive, and a utility of no small value. The fishing in some of these lakes has been shown to be almost too easy to be interesting, bass for instance being taken out in great numbers.

We can expect great things from Florida in the next few years. It is strange that although Florida was one of the first of our states to be settled originally it has been so long in being discovered commercially and developed generally but this may be explained by the human trait that leads us to believe that the better things are always in the next state beyond. But energetic, capable people are now flowing into the state and with the invaluable natural advantages offered, its progress cannot but be remarkable.

REPUBLICANS TO HOLD POW-WOWS

The air in and about Portsmouth will fairly buzz with excitement Tuesday evening, two big political pow-wows being scheduled during the evening. Charles McCormick and his cohorts will gather together at the office of County Clerk Roy McElhane in the court house, and lay their plans to defeat the aims of the opposition who are seeking to place another in the mayor's chair at the city building. His supporters in every end of the city have been urged to attend, and make certain a rousing meeting that will make the other fellows sit up and take notice.

About the same time, the remnant of the Old Guard in G. O. P. circles will assemble at the office of Charles E. Hard in the Masonic Temple to endeavor to clarify the situation in the Republican camp. An effort will be made to have either George M. Osborn or H. H. Elhane retire as Republican candidates for mayor in favor of the other, but the followers of each one say that their candidate is in the race to stay.

The other two Republican candidates, N. B. Gilliland and William Gims were not taken into consideration in the arrangements for either meeting.

The engagement of Miss Doris Lehman, charming daughter of Mr. Lehman, of 923 Second street, to Mr. Milton Meiss, of Cincinnati, will be formally announced in that city, this evening. The wedding of this estimable young couple will be solemnized next February. It was stated here Wednesday, Mr. Meiss is a member of the firm of Lehman Meiss & Company, wholesale notion dealers of Cincinnati.

Miss Margaret Legler will leave Wednesday for Union City, Pa., where she will visit relatives.

Master Howard Frowine is spending a ten days' vacation with Mr. and Mrs. David Appel, of the Chillicothe pike.

Miss Elizabeth Bannon will entertain at her home Thursday evening with a lawn supper in honor of Miss Augusta Haldeman's guest, Miss Grace McLean, of Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ditty, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bridwell, of Sixth street, have gone to their home in Chillicothe and were accompanied by Miss Elsie May Kerr.

DOCTORS USING AMOLOX WITH GREAT SUCCESS
This remarkable letter, coming from a prominent physician engaged in active practice for over 25 years, proves the merit of this wonderful new remedy.

I have used Amolox in four different cases with excellent results. All showed marked improvement from the start. Two apparently are cured, the skin being free from scales and redness, and perfectly normal. I consider Amolox a remedy of rare merit. I know of nothing in the modern text-books that equals it in therapeutic value.

Very truly yours,

with routine work.

M. R. S. Hutchison, personal representative of Mr. Edison, called on Secretary Daniels today and informed him of Mr. Edison's acceptance of the invitation.

"Mr. Hutchison told me," said Secretary Daniels, "that Mr. Edison regarded my invitation as a call to duty and that he would be glad to render any service possible to his country. Mr. Hutchison further stated that Mr. Edison would be very glad to send in a few days his reply to my letter of invitation."

Secretary Daniels conferred with Rear Admirals Griffin, Taylor and Strauss, and naval officers who handle the problem of ordnance, construction, engineering and electricity as to the best way to get the benefit of the advice of citizens inventors. As to the other advisory members to be invited Secretary Daniels said he was not ready to make any announcement but he felt assured that other men would respond to the call to duty. He expects to make announcement concerning them in a few days.

"What we want to do in this matter," said the Secretary, "is to appeal to the American inventor genius to work for the navy and to study what we ought to do. We want them to give us the best they can. Already since this war began, much has been done with our own resources. What has been done in the last three months has not appeared and work that is going on under supervision of our own experts and engineers will continue. But the idea of the advisory board will be to extend into the realms of the unknown in naval construction and possibilities of naval warfare. We want the advice of genius as to the new lines. No one today is able to tell what such advice may bring forth. We cannot tell today what kind of a battleship we should have three years hence.

"For the first time in twenty years we have had an opportunity to test the kind of ships and ammunition that we have in actual naval warfare. Already we are putting guns on submarines and Admiral Taylor is at work on the subject of protection against submarines. I believe there will be as much revolution in naval construction in the future as there has been since the Monitor. The proposed board is one of those things that must grow and work out its own development."

Secretary Daniels suggested as one of the possibilities the establishment in Washington of a large naval testing laboratory and also said that congress would be asked for a larger appropriation for investigation and experimentation.

A large list of names of Americans prominent in various lines of science and invention was mentioned to Secretary Daniels today, but he refused to be drawn into any discussion of probable selections, saying he would not speculate at all but would wait until he was ready to make known the acceptance.

Among the names mentioned were Alexander Graham Bell, Simon Lake, Orville Wright, Professor R. A. Fessenden, John Hays Hammond, Jr., Hudson Maxim and Henry Ford.

down here." This gruff voice is owned by one of Portsmouth's guardians of the peace.

"Well, I hope you will know us the next time you see us," answers he, angrily.

"You can bet your life I will," declares guardian, "and before I forget, I will say that you folks must get out of here," he continued as he keeps playing his sleuthing light in their faces.

"Whaddya mean we will have to beat it," he asks.

"Just what I said," answered the guardian.

Cupid is awakened by the disturbance, the little boys are rapidly assembled for battle, the drums of the army of Gloom are heard and the advance guard of these hosts are seen coming through the darkness—the court of Love is rorted, the bench throne is occupied by Chief Gloom the guardian's ally.

He and She, accompanied by the battered remnant of the army of Joy attempt to stroll through the park but they are followed and are later told that it is "against the law to loiter in the park," or words to that effect.

Reluctantly they climb the steps. The Jays have been completely routed, Cupid is fatally injured—they are all prisoners of Chief Gloom.

They turn their faces homeward, glance back into the park and see that demon light routing others, for the night is hot and the benches are crowded.

TAMME PLACED UNDER ARREST; FOLLOWING DEATH OF JENKINS

William Tamme, former deputy marshal of New Boston, and one of the participants in the pistol duel at New Boston Saturday evening in which Alva Jenkins suffered wounds that resulted in his death the following day, was placed under arrest Monday evening on a warrant from Mayor Davis' court, charging him with shooting with intent to kill.

Tamme is still in bed at his home on Grace street, nursing three fresh wounds which he sustained in the affray, and could not be brought to the mayor's office. After a conference with the county authorities, it was decided not to place a guard over him, as little fear is entertained that he will endeavor to escape. The wounded man claims that he shot in self defense, and that he will have no trouble proving his innocence. A man named Cooper is attending him.

As soon as he is able to be out, Tamme will be formally arraigned before Mayor Davis on the charge. The mayor stated Tuesday morning that the charge would probably be changed to murder during the day, but that he wanted to talk to prosecuting Attorney Micklethwait before that was done. He added that no new evidence had been unearthed in the case.

All doubt as to whether the affair would be investigated by the grand jury, now in session, was removed Tuesday morning, when subpoenas for ten witnesses, known to have been eye witnesses of the shooting, were turned over to Sheriff Smith for immediate service. The subpoenas were served later in the morning by Sheriff Smith and his deputy, Homer Arthur, and the witnesses ordered to appear before the grand jury this afternoon. Examination of the case will begin some time this afternoon and may continue when the jury convenes Wednesday morning.

The body of Alva Jenkins, the victim, was removed from the hospital to his late home in New Boston Monday afternoon in the Daehler funeral car. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at two o'clock in the New Boston Baptist church, in charge of Rev. Morris Bridwell. Interment will take place in the Wheelersburg cemetery.

AGED WOMAN IS LOCATED

Mrs. Mary Woodruff, aged 86 years, who disappeared from the William Heid home at Sixth and Hickley streets, Monday afternoon, was located after a several hours search. She had wandered to the Clifford Dickel home at 915 Findlay street.

A lunacy affidavit was filed against Mrs. Woodruff in probate court Tuesday morning, but Judge Beatty dismissed the affidavit after an examination and permitted her to return to the Heid home.

GAS TANK BLOWS UP, MAN HAS CLOSE CALL

Jack Syphard narrowly escaped serious burns when a presto light tank blew up in the rear part of Judson Rainey's blacksmith shop on Third street Tuesday morning.

Syphard was engaged in setting a rubber tire on a back wheel, when the rubber hose attached to the tank became loose and flames from the burner caused the tank to ignite.

There was a loud report and flames shot up to the ceiling, but fortunately the tank did not burst. Syphard was more scared than hurt. Persons passing sent in a fire alarm to which the auto engine company responded, but its services were not needed. The rear room was scorched to some extent. Innocent Bystander Got It As Usual

The hearing of principals and witnesses of the two big fights in Earlytown on Monday, July 5th, was held in police court Tuesday morning.

HAD BEEN DRINKING

A stranger dropped in his tracks in front of John W. Carroll's wall-paper store on Second street Monday evening and hurly calls were sent in for a physician and ambulance. Director Lake, of the safety department, believing the man intoxicated, instead of allowing him to be taken to the hospital, ordered his removal to police headquarters, where Dr. W. E. Ganit attended him. A companion created some excitement by his harangues of the officials, he claiming the man was dying and that he had seen his father's life ended suddenly in the same way down in North Carolina. He is said to have finally admitted, however, that they had been drink-

Engineer Suffers A Broken Skull But Stops His Train

Jacob Krause, aged 40 years, an N. & W. engineer of 792 Harvard Place, was almost fatally injured when he struck a bridge rod in leaning out of a cab window looking for a signal as his train was approaching Vera Junction Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock.

Krause's skull was fractured over the frontal sinus, his right eye was completely closed and swollen to the size of a hen egg and he received an ugly looking scalp wound seven inches long. He was hurriedly removed to the Hutchins street crossing on the engine which was detached from the train and taken to Dr. C. G. Braumlin's office where his wounds were dressed. He was later removed in Dr. Braumlin's automobile to Hempstead hospital where he lapsed into an unconscious state but was soon after revived. He was also suffering nasal hemorrhages but Dr. Braumlin believed the man would recover from his injuries.

Krause had about recovered from his state of collapse by noon Tuesday. It was learned that his Braumlin's office where his wounds were dressed. He was later removed in Dr. Braumlin's automobile and bring the train to a stop.

Shantyites Drunk

A trio of shantytown people giving the names of F. L. Swander and Clark Jenkins and wife, who were arrested for making a show of themselves on the river grade Monday evening, will be given a hearing this evening. They were drunk, according to the police.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, work, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 60.

Dear Miss Wise.—Do you think a girl could get work in California? I would just love to go out there.

ROSEY.

California is swarming with people looking for work. I'm afraid you could not get any.

Dear Miss Wise.—I am sixteen and wish to have your advice. I met a fellow one afternoon. He was walking past our house and played a joke on me by asking where a certain number was. Then afterward he said he wanted to know the names of the people and he also said he came down on purpose to know me. I have found out that this fellow is very well known. He has asked me for a great many dates, but I have refused him, as I am not allowed to accept. I think a great deal of him. Please tell me how I can go places with him and how to get him back again, as he has dropped me since I cannot go with him.

SWEET SIXTEEN.

The young man took a very unconventional way of getting acquainted, and because of this I cannot blame your parents for not letting you go with him. He may, however, be a very fine boy. Have your father investigate his character, since he is so well known, and if he is all right and your parents consent, have a little party or four or eight some night and invite him.

Dear Miss Wise.—Is it customary for the groom to pay for the dress, hat, shoes and gloves of the bride?

BETSEY.

No. The groom never provides for any part of the bride's trousseau other than her flowers and those of the bridesmaid.

Dear Miss Wise.—I am sixteen and am going with a fellow my own age. This fellow has asked me for several dates. I accepted a few times, but the last two times my mother did not let me go, not because it was he, but because of the place. Please tell me what to do so that he will not get insulted when I do not go? I myself am crazy to go.

MAY FLOWER.

As a rule a boy who asks a girl to go to an undesirable place has an undesirable character himself. But in this case the boy may not realize that the place is not all right. Therefore, tell him that your mother does not mind your going with him, but she does not like the places he takes you. It will not insult him.

Dear Dolly Wise.—What do you think of a girl who smokes cigarettes and curses?

FATTY.

I certainly do not think much of her. A girl who would do either is a travesty to womanhood, and should be ostracized from respectable society.

Dear Miss Wise.—Will you kindly tell me how to clean a light tan rug? I have cleaned it with H. & H. soap and sponged it off with clean water afterwards, and when it is dry it is always streaked. Will you tell me how to clean a blue poplin dress?

MRS. H. T.

Sponge it with ammonia water, wiping it with a dry cloth after each few feet have been scrubbed. The dress I would dip in gasoline and rub lightly with the hands, then hang it in the air to dry.

Dear Dolly.—Do you think a palm beach suit would be conventional enough for a hot weather dance?

BILLY.

It depends upon how formal the dance is to be. Late men at fashionable resorts have been wearing white serge clothes to dance in, and I imagine they look very nice. I don't see why "palm beach" wouldn't be appropriate, but I suggest that you ask some of the other men who expect to be at the dance what they intend wearing. Why not eschew convention, this hot weather and dance without a coat, if you must dance at all.

Husband.—You are right. I would insist that the woman leave my house immediately. She is not a fit person to associate with your family. I cannot understand why some mothers will admit such people into their homes. If she is permitted to carry on the way she has been there will be a big scandal sooner or later and your family will be dragged into it, and probably disgraced for life.

Miss Kate Gabler, clerk in Marting Brothers' store, and guests, Misses Adelle and Ada Howell, of Huntington, left today for Huntington, where Miss Gabler will spend a part of her vacation and will also visit her sister, Mrs. George Smith at Dogwood Ridge, and brother, Mr. John Smith, at South Webster.

TIMES SERVICE PATTERN 1344

1344. A smart dress for morning, home or business wear.

Ladies' House Dress with or without collar, with sleeve in wrist or elbow length and with skirt in raised or normal waist-line.

This neat and trim little model is good for linen, lawn, gingham, repp, poplin, voile, chambray, ratine or percale. It is also nice for tub silk, tulle, cotton crepe, corduroy, seersucker or galatea. In white pique with pipings of a smart bright color, it will make a very chic frock. The lines are new and attractive. The shaped yoke is a new style feature, and the sleeve is good in wrist or elbow length. The skirt is a four gore model, and may be joined to the waist at raised or normal waistline. The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 4 yards of 27-inch material for a 36-inch size. The skirt measures about 2 3/4 yards at the foot. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Orders for patterns are forwarded to New York to be filled, hence it requires several days for the pattern to reach the purchaser. Patterns can not be ordered by telephone. Do not use postage stamps for larger denomination than two cents.

CAUTION—Order adult patterns by number of pattern, giving bust measure for waist patterns, and waist measure for skirt patterns. For Misses and Children give number of pattern and age only.

BELIEVE FLOOD WALL WILL BE DECIDED ON

Definite steps towards authorizing the building of the proposed extension to the flood wall will be taken at an adjourned session of city council tonight.

Final plans and estimates for the project will be submitted by City Engineer George S. Wilhelm and the proposed improvement will be considered from every possible angle. Any interested property owners or citizens generally will be given a hearing should they wish to present their views to council.

It is expected that council will authorize the required bond issue for the improvement for as it is the contract for the extension can not now be possibly let before October.

Bigamist Wants Out Of Pen So He Can Help His Mother

William Curtis Kitchen, a former X. & W. fireman, who climaxed a rather checkered career some months past by his marriage to a prominent young woman of Cass, W. Va., some months ago, although he had never been divorced from his wife in Portsmouth, is striving to obtain his release from the state prison at Mountsville, W. Va.

Writing to Police Chief W. T. McCarty, the convicted bigamist asks him to furnish him with a letter attesting to his past record, which he declares was good, although he alleges relatives at the time of his trial went out of their way to try to show him up as a crook.

Kitchen claims to be the victim of circumstances, saying he was led into pleading guilty to a bigamy charge under the promise of being let off with one year's sentence, provided he did not divulge the conditions of his marriage. He says that he never stood trial, but instead of receiving one year, was sentenced to five years. The testimony of his brother-in-law was damaging to him, he said, while he, a stranger and having no money with which to provide defense, was unable to get any consideration. He also scores his Portsmouth wife for testifying against him.

Kitchen is trying to secure a parole, he says, in order that he might be of some assistance to his widowed mother, who lives at 3042 Gallia street, and who, he says, is badly in need of his support.

TO RETAIN QUARTERS

At a special meeting of River City Camp, Woodmen of the World, Monday evening, it was decided to retain the present quarters of the Camp in the Brushhart building and turn down the proposition to lease Kendall's hall for a meeting place. Brushhart's hall has been leased by the Macabees and the Woodmen of the World will sub-lease from them.

LOST 50 LBS. BUT FEELS GOOD

Feeling better than he has for sometime, Louie Miller returned Monday night from Cincinnati, where he spent 16 days in a hospital. Despite the fact that he lost 50 pounds he is feeling fine and is on the road to recovery. He was accompanied home by Jake Findeis, who made a business trip to Cincinnati, Monday.

Milker Injured

Mrs. John Meek, of No. 24 West Stanton avenue, is having more than her share of troubles with the family cow.

A week ago Mrs. Meek was hooked in the side by the cow and severely bruised. She was milking the same cow early Tuesday morning when the "critter" suddenly reared up and jumped, frightening the woman to such an extent that she fell over and wrenched her back. She is now confined to her bed.

A. I. U. ANNIVERSARY

Members of the American Insurance Union will observe the twentieth anniversary of the order at meeting to be held Thursday evening. Arrangements have been made to have members brought to the hall in automobiles. Splendid exercises have been arranged and the evening promises to be an eventful one in the annals of the lodge.

No "Safety Man" Yet, But Soon?

"We are trying to secure a good man, and by the time we are through with it will no doubt have a good man. The public surely appreciates this fact, which, after all, is the essential thing," said Mayor Frick Tuesday, when asked if he had as yet decided upon a successor to Dr. Joe Luke, who recently resigned as director of public safety.

The mayor said he had an appointment for Wednesday with a prominent business man to whom the position has been offered, and feels very much encouraged about him accepting the place.

Heat a Menace to Lives of Old Folks

Sickness and Misery Are Caused By Constipation In Hot Weather

People of advancing years should be very careful of their health during the hot months. One has only to follow the mortality record of elderly people as reported in the papers, to realize that these are the hardest months of the year for them.

It is most important to the maintenance of health and vigor at this time to avoid constipation, with its accompanying headaches and muscular and blood congestion. This can be best accomplished by the timely use of a gentle laxative, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, an ideal remedy that is pleasant to the taste, easy and natural in its action and does not gripe. Its tonic properties build up and strengthen the system.

Elderly people should avoid strong physics, cathartics, purgatives, salts and pills as these afford only temporary relief and are a shock to the entire system. In every home a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should always be on hand. It is inexpensive and can be obtained in any drug store for only fifty cents. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. Caldwell, 453 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

Co. K Goes To Camp Sunday, July 25th

Three new enlistments were reported at the regular drill practice of Co. K, O. N. G., at the armory, Kendall's hall, Monday evening, bringing the total enlistments up to fifty-seven. Next Monday evening will be the last drill practice before the annual summer camp, and enlistments prior to leaving for camp will be closed at that time.

The camp will be held at Yellow Springs on the week beginning Monday, July 26. The local company will leave Portsmouth on Sunday, July 25. Captain Smith issued the uniforms and equipment to the members Monday evening, and the local company will go fully equipped. Sergeant Larsen, the United States army detail, devoted considerable time Monday evening to instructing the men in drill practice.

Kendall's hall is being rapidly made into a real armory. Each commissioned officer has his private office; the non-commissioned officers have an office to themselves; while each member of the company will have an individual locker when the work is completed.

COMMITTEE NAMED

A committee composed of Messrs. Ray McElaney, George Ditty, Wm. Hyland, Capt. Janetzky, O. E. Lewis and C. C. Milstead was named Tuesday to work out the details of having the Tri-State W. O. W. log-rolling contest staged in this city on the last day of the Korn Karnival.

GEEKS MEET

A good-sized attendance marked the social and business session of the Geeks Monday night. The shoe fund, the purpose of which is to provide footwear for the needy poor, has already reached the fine figure of $200.

Important Meeting

There will be a business meeting at the close of the services at the First Baptist church tomorrow evening. Important business will be transacted and every member is urged to be present.

Dining Room To Be Opened

The dining-room of the Biggs house was reopened to service by the new management of that hotel Monday morning. A first-class chef from Huntington has been engaged by Landlord Napper.

Bay Case Is Put Off

Word came from Greenup Monday night that the case of Capt. William Bay had been put off until the next term of Circuit court in Greenup county. Capt. Bay is charged with the murder of Basil Kitts, who was killed a year ago near Fullerton.

POLICE RAID WEBB HOME

A police squad raided the home of Mrs. Addie Annie Webb, on Gay St., between Tenth and Eleventh streets at midnight Monday, arresting her and a couple who registered as Sophia Hicks and Clarence Dement.

According to the official report the Webb woman was undressed when the officers entered and the other woman was sitting on the side of a bed pretending to be reading a book. All were locked up at the city prison. The officials claim to have received repeated complaints about the Webb home and claim that they have given her several warnings.

Dement attempted to escape through an upstairs window but ran into the arms of a policeman. The trio entered pleas of not guilty in court Tuesday. The coal mine in West Virginia a few years ago.

PLANS TO HUSTLE

Contractor George White expects will push work on the road with all to have another derick in position on the tow-path job Wednesday and possible haste.

ALBRECHT IN CONTEST

Officer Tom Albrecht has also entered the popular policeman contest started in connection with this week's street fair, and is soliciting support with a vim that indicates he will be one of the prize-winners.

Boy Disappeared; Parents Scared

William Bryant, aged 11 years, a son of A. J. Bryant, an X. & W. yard switchman, badly scared his parents by absconding himself from home Monday night.

The boy disappeared from the family home at No. 2001 Twentieth street, Monday evening at 7 o'clock, and when he failed to return at a late hour a search was instituted for him. Morning came without any signs of the missing lad and the distressed parents began to fear that he had gone to the river and was drowned. They appealed to the police to aid in the search, but shortly before noon the boy turned up safely. He claimed to have spent the night with a boy companion, Nassie Skaggs, of Sixth and Boundary streets.

TAKE SALTS FOR THE KIDNEYS IF YOUR BACK HURTS

We Should Drink Lots of Water and Less Meat, Says
Noted Authority on Kidney Disorders

Recommends a Spoonful of Jad Salts In Glass of Water Before Breakfast to Stimulate Kidneys and Eliminate the Uric Acid

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

LEXINGTON SWEEP OFF THEIR FEET IN THE NINTH

Spencerites Pile Up Six Runs In The Eventful Ninth

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 12.—By staging one of the greatest batting rallies ever seen in this city, which brought sorrow to the hearts of local fans, Portsmouth came from behind and copped Monday's game 6 to 4.

Up to the ninth the Colts lead 4 to 0 and it looked like an easy victory for the Gwyn outfit, but Portsmouth saved half of its hits for the ninth and when the cannonading ceased the team was two runs to the good and Lexington witnessed apparent victory turned into defeat.

In their desperation to win both managers used a flock of pitchers and the fans saw a real scrappy ball game despite the fact that there was much hitting. Portsmouth secured a pass and clouted out six hits in the fatal ninth. It was one big fat round and when the smoke cleared away the Colts were trailing in the dust. The same teams play today, Wednesday and Thursday. The games will be bitterly contested and will draw big crowds. Dilts was again used as a rescue pitcher and again he made good.

Jacobus Delivers

Larry Jacobus is developing into some pinch hitter. Time after time he has gone to the bat for some one in the ninth and almost every time he has delivered with a hit or a sacrifice play. Jacobus is one of the team's most valuable players.

FANS PLEASED OVER TEAM'S GAMENESS

There were gobs of joy in local fandom Monday night when news of the eventful ninth inning of the Portsmouth-Lexington game trickled in over the wire and showed that Portsmouth had come from behind and had defeated the Colts 6 to 4 in the opening game of a series that will decide the leadership of the league for a few days.

Anything the fans like is a team that can come from behind and win one that to all intent and purposes is hopelessly lost. Portsmouth has a team of sturdy athletes that has been turning this trick all season. It would occasion no surprise should the Spencerites cap two more games and if this trick is turned the team will come home with a comfortable lead. Fans, it is one game team and it is almost a certainty that the team that beats it out will win the Ohio State League pennant.

FANS HAVE SOURED ON CONNIE MACK

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—Thousands of fans were astounded at the wait put forth by Connie Mack, erstwhile idol of fandom, in which he set forth the reason why he scattered throughout the country his famous pitching staff and shot to pieces his famous one-hundred-thousand-dollar infield, giving full credit to the Federal league's 42-centimeter guns.

LOOKS LIKE HUNTINGTON WILL STAGE COME BACK

The Huntington Herald Dispatch says: "That the proposed transfer of the Chillicothe baseball team to the Ohio State league to Huntington is summing up yet and will not come to a head until this morning when the directors of the Huntington Baseball company assemble at the Fredericks hotel was the statement made last night by President Carr and Dr. R. Stern, representing local business men. Both were confident, however, that the deal will go through today without a hitch. The tentative plans were gone over last night and virtually accepted."

Team Home Friday, Charleston To Play

The Portsmouth team will arrive home Friday and will begin a four game series with Charleston on that day. The rumor started going the rounds as soon as some fan saw Stovall in the Cleveland grandstand.

Barber Hitting In His Old Time Form

Joe Barber, who is playing first base for the Waycross team of the Georgia State League, writes that his team was used out of the pennant for the first half by the Brunswick team by the narrow margin of one and one-half games. He says, however, that his team has a five game lead for the second half and expects to lead for the rest of the season. He writes that he has the best chance for the flag. Joe writes that he is coming fine, having fully recovered his old form and that he is hitting well above the 300 mark.

CHARLESTON IS HAPPY

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 12.—The return of Huntington into the Ohio State League will meet with much favor at Charleston which at the present time is the only West Virginia City, outside of Wheeling, supporting a team in organized baseball. While rivalry between Charleston in the baseball world has always been intense it has been friendly and Charleston fans are rather confident that Huntington will give better support to a good team either Chillicothe or several other teams which remain in the league.

League Magnates Tilt Rule Little

New York, July 12.—At their meeting yesterday, the National league owners made a readjustment of the 21-player limit rule, which has been the subject of much discussion and difference of opinion. It was decided that hereafter when a player is injured his name, upon the request of his club, will be taken from the limit list, provided that he is kept out of game for ten days or more. It was decided, however, that when a player is suspended his name must still be carried on the list. The magnates informally discussed the general affairs of the league and announced that they found them in excellent condition, not only as manifested in the condition of the National league, but as affecting organized baseball in its entirety.

ARE YELLING FOR DOPE

Newspapers throughout the country are beginning to call for dope on Al Mamau, and the spelling and pronunciation has not mattered much until now. But we wish someone would correct the bug in a trolley car who pronounced it Madame X. He probably is the same chap who loudly gave his side of the story about the torpedoing of "the Louisiana."

ARE NOT GROWN TWICE IN DECADE

"Is Eddie Collins," queries a reader, "a valuable player as I have Wagner was at his best?" Handing all the bouquets to Eddie that he can carry, there never was a player as valuable to a ball club as Wagner was for 15 years to Pittsburgh. Connie Mack says he will build up another machine as great as his last one. But crops like that are not grown twice in a decade.

The Stars Differ

Star baseball players differ when it comes to being ambitious for their sons. Christy Mathewson evidently wants his son, Jr., to follow in his footsteps. The older Christy takes great pride in the ability of his younger son to play baseball and he encourages him to handle the ball and the bat and takes delight in teaching the lad how to pitch.

CARTER WAS DRIVEN OUT

Two former Portsmouth pitchers were on the slab for the Cleveland Spiders in the first game of the double header Sunday with Kansas City, which Cleveland lost, 8 to 4. Carter pitched five innings, and was touched up for nine hits and six runs. He was succeeded by McGill, who held the Kaws hitless and runless for two innings, and then retired in favor of a pinch hitter.

Nailers Win

Ironton, July 12.—Singleton allowed only five hits in his game but two of them came in the third and netted a run. In the fourth another hit with two errors gave the Nailers a victory over the locals 2 to 0. Lavender was effective in the pinches.

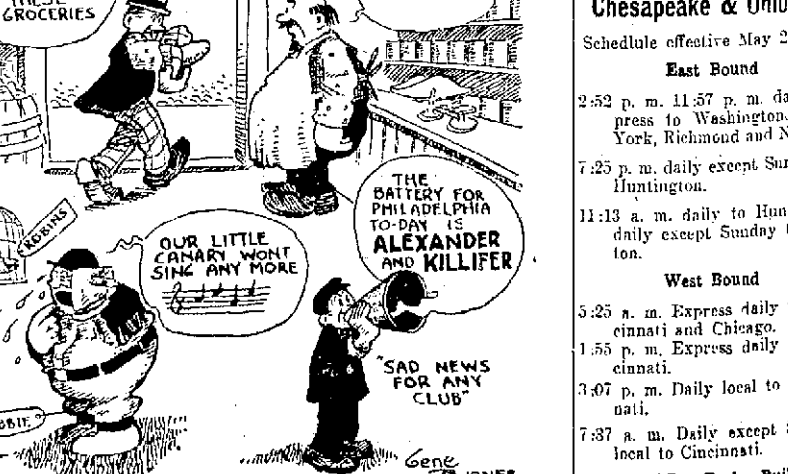

New Man Is Star

Manager Horzog says he has picked up a great infielder in Rodgers and that with a little experience he should develop into a regular. Rodgers is not only a brilliant fielder, but he can kiss the leather with heaps big vigor.

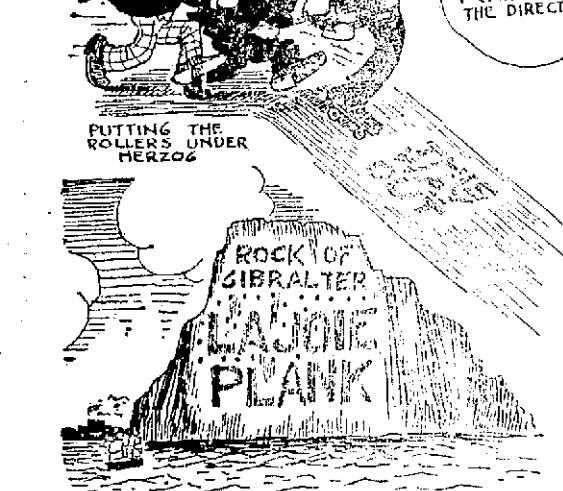

.300 Hitters To Be Scarce

Boston, July 12.—Tris Speaker may or may not be discouraged by his failure to bat up to his usual standard this season, but it looks very much as if he did not expect to equal his former years with the bluebeans. He has been quoted in an interview as declaring that it is improbable that there will be many .300 hitters in the American League this year. "I don't look for many .300 hitters in the American League this year. There used to be a time when a batter could say to himself, 'Well, when we get to such a town I will fatten my batting average, for that team has got only one pitcher.' But it isn't that way this year."

DECIDE ON NEW FEATURES FOR KORN KARNIVAL

Married Men To Be Given Chance, May Have Circus; Other Attractions

Enthusiasm fairly ran rampant at the meeting of the directors of the Retail Merchants' Association and chairmen of the various Korn Karnival committees held Monday night in their rooms in the Masonic Temple and plans were laid that when faithfully carried out will make for a bigger and better Korn Karnival this year.

More real business was transacted at this spirited and well attended meeting than the past few meetings rolled into one and there can be no doubt about the magnitude of this year's Karnival. It is going to be some show. This was conceded on all sides last night and then the officials proceeded to make good their promises.

Arranging a program of variety that will have a particular appeal to all classes of pleasure seekers the officials feel that their sincere efforts will result in the 1915 Karnival being the greatest affair of the kind ever staged in Ohio. Shortly after the various committees submitted their reports it was announced by W. W. Anderson, chairman of the committee on parades, that the following parade program had been definitely mapped out for the Karnival:

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 6.

Children's parade, St. Straus, chairman.

WEDNESDAY EVENING

Boaters' parade, Albert Marting, chairman.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 7

Farmers' parade in which all farmers of Scioto county will be urged to take part, Otto Zoellner of Dogwood Ridge, chairman.

THURSDAY EVENING

Married Folks' parade, J. H. Varner chairman. This is a new and distinct feature and will be worked up in fine shape.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 8.

Children's Singing Contests, Prof. Frank Appel and John E. Williams chairmen. They will be staged in front of new High School building.

FRIDAY EVENING

Bill parade, Will H. Burt chairman. All "Bills" in the city will be asked to take part and every effort will be made to have this parade surpass the famous John parade of last year.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 9

Jingling contests for quartets and Old Fiddlers' contest, W. O. W. Tri-Sixty Log Rolling.

SATURDAY EVENING

Masked Carnival, Frank W. Sheridan chairman.

Best Program Ever Arranged

Directors of the Retail Merchants' Association, who mapped out this ambitious program declare it to be the best that has ever been arranged for a Karnival and they feel that it will give the very best of satisfaction.

"We have tried hard to please all classes," said Warwick W. Anderson, chairman of the parade committee, last night. "It is no small task and we acted slowly in the matter. We have events for people of all ages this year and feel that the official program is more comprehensive than ever. From now on we will meet often and the 1915 Korn Karnival will be a long narrow American flag, then there will be two flags of the Karnival colors, green, white and yellow, and in the center there will be an American flag draped in festoon style. The idea is an ingenious one and will no doubt add a touch of individuality to the Karnival. These decorations will in no way interfere with the individual decorations. Merchants will decorate their business houses as in the past, this scheme being designed to give the Karnival streets a distinctive touch.

"We have been considering a plan of this character for some time and feel that it will give the satisfaction," said Mr. Tritescher last night. "The streamers will be suspended across the streets and will be up a day or two ahead of the opening day of the Karnival.

"Log Rolling To Be Big Affair" Roy McElhaneey was present at the meeting and addressed the directors on the proposition to have the annual Tri-State W. O. W. Log Rolling Contest staged here on the last day of the Karnival. Mr. McElhaneey assured the directors that it would attract from 3,000 to 5,000 people to the city and the high officials of this order. Fifty-three camps are represented in the log rolling. "It was held in conjunction with the Fall Festival at Huntington last year and proved one of the greatest attractions that city offered to its visitors," Mr. McElhaneey said last night. "I feel that you will make no mistake in having the Woodmen come to Portsmouth on the final day of the Karnival and pull off the annual log rolling festivities."

The directors discussed the matter and thanked Mr. McElhaneey for the interest he was taking in the Karnival and assured him that they would give this matter their immediate attention.

Money Needed, Pay Your Share It was announced that the committees on subscription would start out right away to raise enough money to cover all expenses of staging so large affair as a Korn Karnival. "We want the people to be ready to meet us and not think that we are soliciting money for ourselves," said Albert Zoellner last night. "Whoever gives will give for a fine purpose and they will not be making a donation, but will be subscribing to one of the finest things Portsmouth has ever had. If everybody will meet the committee half way our work will be easy."

Double Order For Post Cards B. W. Richards, chairman of the advertising committee, stated last night that 40,000 postcards would be ordered instead of 20,000 as originally planned. It was stated that Postcard Day, which is to be celebrated in the city and every part of the county would take place the latter part of September, the date to be announced later. Samples of the postcards to be used were submitted by Photographer Ben Harris and they made the biggest kind of a hit. Various scenes of last year's show are shown in variegated colors and the cards will no doubt be treasured as mementoes of the 1915 Karnival.

"They are the finest cards that can be turned out of the kind and will be placed on sale within a few weeks," Mr. Harris said last night. "The wholesale dealers are going to use thousands of the cards and Postcard Day is to be made a memorable day in the city," said Dick Richards, one of the five wires of the Karnival, last night. It was also announced that an effort would be made to secure a complete circus for the Karnival. "We need a few more amusements," said Dick Richards, last night, "and we will get busy right away and line up some circuses that will be of interest to every one."

St. Straus, chairman of the committee on amusements, was not present, but sent word that his end of the program was being looked after faithfully and that in the way of amusements the Karnival this year would be far ahead of last year's.

Manufacturers Will Help Boost Captain James W. Smith was not quite ready to give an accurate statement as to what the manufacturers will do this year in the way of having displays at the Karnival. He hopes to line them all up and feels that he will be successful. He is planning to have more manufacturers take part in the show this year than ever before.

Three thousand flag banners, 50 road streamers to be used in various parts of the county, 500 highly colored banners, thousands of pennants and 20,000 premiums have been ordered and will be delivered in a short while. Meetings will be held often in the future and the Korn Karnival will be boosted for all it is worth. "We plan to make each day a big one and have many little surprises up our sleeves," said Arthur Bode last night. "One day will be made just as big as the other. We are going to attract thousands of visitors to the city and make the 1915 Karnival the grandest affair ever held in Ohio."

Similar sentiment was expressed by Samuel Horschow, Albert Marting, W. W. Anderson, Will H. Burt, Dick Richards, Albert Zoellner, Ben Harris, Maurice Coe, William Tritescher and others. "While we did not provide for a Fraternal Day parade this year we will ask the various lodges in the city to keep open house during the K. K. week and take care of the hundreds of lodgemen that will be attracted to the city," said an official of the Retail Merchants' Association, Tuesday morning. "We believe this plan will work out splendidly."

100 PRIESTS ESCORT BODY OF QUIGLEY

Chicago, July 13.—Escorted by more than a hundred priests, the body of Archbishop James Edward Quigley, who died in Rochester, New York, on Saturday, arrived here today for burial.

A guard of honor of more than 6,000 laymen and 8,000 priests made up the cortege as it proceeded to the Cathedral of Holy Name, where mourning services were held. Bells on every Catholic institution in Chicago tolled for ten minutes after the funeral party arrived.

The body will lie in state at the home of the late prelate today. Burial will take place on Thursday.

Police Officer Ora Clark is off duty on account of illness.

After numerous delays, the injunction and dissolution case of Charles Barlow and others, constituting the Master Plumbers of Portsmouth, against William Tilton and others, officers of the Building Trades Council and of its auxiliary organizations, will be heard on its merits Wednesday morning at nine o'clock before Judge Tarbell, of Georgetown.

While it is understood that the hearing will be largely a matter of determining the constitutional rights and privileges of the individual and association, yet it is probable that the plaintiffs' attorneys, Blair and Kimble, will endeavor to introduce several witnesses to testify as to the alleged acts of unlawful combination and conspiracy on the part of the defendants to injure the business of the plaintiffs, as set forth in the petition for injunction and dissolution, filed several weeks ago.

First intimation of the character of the defense to be put up by the defendants was made known Tuesday, when Attorney Edgar Miller, representing them, made public the answer to the petition of the plaintiffs, which he said he would file in common pleas court late this afternoon or early Wednesday morning.

In this answer the defendants deny each and every allegation of unlawful acts, or that they have formed an unlawful combination or conspiracy to harm plaintiffs or any one else. On the contrary, they claim that all sides of their association are framed to benefit the members and not to work injury to any one.

In the second place, they allege that the plaintiffs do not come into the court with clean hands. They state that on May 1, 1914, the plaintiffs entered into a contract with Local 577, of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters and Steam Fitters of Portsmouth, which provided for working conditions between them from that date until April 30, 1917. A printed copy of this contract is attached to the petition, marked "Exhibit A" of the defense.

The defendants then allege that after this agreement was entered into and signed, the plaintiffs illegally and unlawfully formed an association, known as the Master Plumbers of Portsmouth, for the purpose of inducing the members to violate the contract entered into and that they did violate it, which has brought on the present trouble.

The contract, copy of which is attached to the answer, specified a minimum wage scale of $3.50 a day from May 1, 1914 to April 30th, 1915, and of $4.00 a day from May 1st, 1915, to May 1st, 1917. This is the term of the contract which the defendants claim the plaintiffs willfully violated. The contract also specified working conditions, pay for extra work, pay for apprentices, and all other matters that enter into an agreement.

The prayer for relief asked for by the plaintiffs is one of the most sweeping ever known in the local courts. It asks for a permanent dissolution of the Building Trades Council of Portsmouth, an association of building craftsmen of all kinds, and a permanent injunction restraining the organization or its members, from interfering in any way with the business of the plaintiffs.

Almost every city of any size in the United States has a Building Trades Council similar to the one in this city, and the outcome of this suit is being watched the country over.

May Dismiss Case Against 'American'

Paris, July 13.—Major Julien of the Paris permanent court martial, has completed the report he will present to that tribunal regarding the case of Raymond Svoboda who professes to be an American citizen and who was charged with espionage after having been arrested on suspicion that he was responsible for the fire aboard the steamship La Touraine.

Insanuous as experts have decided the steamship fire was the result of an accident and as there is no strong evidence that Svoboda was a spy it is considered probable the case will be dismissed.

2,228,300 War Dead; Russia First, Germany Is Second

London, July 13.—According to an official appeal issued today by the French Relief Society, the French casualties from the beginning of the war up to June 1, 1915, total 1,400,000. Of this number 400,000 are reported killed, 700,000 wounded and 300,000 taken prisoners.

This statement is the text for the following computation, from official sources, giving the latest estimates of the total casualties of all the powers engaged in the great war:

	Killed	Wounded	Missing	Casualties
France	400,000	700,000	300,000	1,400,000
Great Britain	116,000	229,000	83,000	428,000

Carranza Troops Land At Yabadas

Douglas, Ariz., July 13.—A wireless message received today at Agua Prieta stated that 300 Carranza troops were landed at Yabadas, Sonora, near the mouth of the Mayo river, on Friday from the gunboat Guerrero, now blockading the port of Guaymas. The message said the troops would garrison this rich agricultural section and expected later to be reinforced for a movement north.

The United States military authorities have reported that several hundred Mexicans crossed the international boundary Sunday night on their way from the Carranza garrison at Agua Prieta. According to some official sources it is said that Gen. Colles, Carranza commander at Agua Prieta, is planning a movement against the Villa forces which are now outside the town.

SHRINERS PLAN NEW TEMPLES

Seattle, Wash., July 13.—The question of creating new temples and the report of the Masonic War Relief Association of the United States were two of the most important matters pending at the opening today of the 41st annual session of the Imperial Council of the Nobles of the Mystical Shrine.

The report of the war relief association states that $65,000 has been collected by Masons for the families of brothers killed or wounded in the countries at war in Europe. The report asks for further relief funds and for money for relief at the close of the war.

KENTUCKY CARLSBAD SPRING'S FAMOUS MINERAL WATER. NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY This famous water is pumped from the earth 100 feet deep. It is a dark greenish color, entirely free from organic matter, with wonderful medicinal properties. Hundreds of cases of rheumatism, sciatica, dizziness, catarrh, diabetes, stomach, kidney, liver and bladder troubles have met their Waterloo by drinking this water. Just as it is drawn from the earth, you can get the same results by drinking it at your home. It is not contingent on you to come to the springs, as you can get it from your druggist. If he hasn't it, have him to order it for you. You can order it yourself, direct from the Springs. Understand, it is sold with a guarantee if you do not get the desired results after ten days, the money will be refunded to you. For all the above mentioned diseases excepting rheumatism, Rheumatism must come to the Springs to get better. Our Spring is thirty-five miles from Cincinnati, Ohio, on the Q. & C. railroad.

Columbus, July 13.—Attorneys for the Union Gas and Electric Company of Cincinnati appeared before the public utilities commission today to protest against the valuation of $3,451,000 placed on the company's property in Cincinnati after an extensive survey by appraisal engineers of the commission. The company's estimate of its valuation is $21,000,000.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK, THICK, GLOSSY

Look years younger! Try Grandma's recipe of Sage and Sulphur and nobody will know.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also cures dandruff, itching scalp and keeps falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wigley's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you have used your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small hair at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application of two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

FRENCH GRAVES AND ENGLISH CAPTIVES SHOW GERMAN MIGHT

French graves at Maroeuil, near Arras (top), and English prisoners under German guard. These pictures show the results of German activity in Belgium and northern France. At Maroeuil, near Arras, hundreds of crosses mark French graves. A part of the cemetery is shown in the upper picture. Below it is a group of English soldiers taken prisoners by the Germans during the recent fighting at St. Eloi, along the British battle line near La Bassée, on the Belgian frontier.

Edison Will Head Board Who Plan For Better Defenses

Washington, July 13.—Announcement by Thomas A. Edison, of his acceptance of Secretary Daniels' offer to head an advisory board of civilian inventors for the proposed bureau of invention and development in the navy department was received with gratification today by naval officials. Secretary Daniels was especially pleased because upon Mr. Edison's acceptance depended almost entirely the development of the secretary's plan of utilizing the inventive genius of the country to aid in perfecting the navy as a fighting machine.

Mr. Daniels, who appealed to Mr. Edison to undertake the task on patriotic grounds, went ahead today with the perfection of his new plans. (Details of the proposed organization, however, will not be completed until the secretary has had an opportunity to confer with Mr. Edison, which he hopes to do very soon. It is planned to have men prominent in special lines of inventive and research work associated with the bureau, several names already being under consideration.)

One of the big problems to be laid before the new bureau will be that of improving the navy's submarines and aeroplanes, the imperative need of which is recognized. Referring in his letter to Mr. Edison relative to submarine warfare, secretary Daniels said he felt sure that with Mr. Edison's wonderful brain to help them, the officers of the navy would be able "to meet this new danger with new devices that will assure peace to our country by their effectiveness."

Another important task of the bureau will be to make a careful study with a view to their possible adoption of all the numerous suggestions and inventions which are received almost daily by the navy department from naval officers and civilians. These are now handled by the various bureaus already overcrowded with routine work.

U. S. NOTE MAY BE DELAYED FOR WEEK

Washington, July 13.—Consideration of the German reply to the American note on submarine warfare overshadowed all else today in the work of state department officials. Secretary Lansing spent most of the time preparing data and opinions for the next communication to be sent to Germany and he indicated that very probably he would not go to Corvish, but that President Wilson would return here at the end of the week.

The situation was described in official quarters as critical and there was no concealment of the fact that relations between Germany and the United States had become more strained than at any other time of their history.

High officials said the policy of the American government would be carefully worked out and that in order to meet the situation fully the utmost deliberation was required.

This information was given out in order that a delay of possibly a week or more in preparing an answer might not be misinterpreted as meaning that the United States intended in any way to recede from the position it had taken in the two notes already sent to Berlin.

100 PRIESTS ESCORT BODY OF QUIGLEY

Chicago, July 13.—Escorted by more than a hundred priests, the body of Archbishop James Edward Quigley, who died in Rochester, New York, on Saturday, arrived here today for burial.

A guard of honor of more than 6,000 laymen and 8,000 priests made up the cortege as it proceeded to the Cathedral of Holy Name, where mourning services were held. Bells on every Catholic institution in Chicago tolled for ten minutes after the funeral party arrived.

The body will lie in state at the home of the late prelate today. Burial will take place on Thursday.

BUY TORPEDO NETS FOR U. S. WARSHIPS

Washington, July 13.—For experimental purposes the navy department has purchased several torpedo nets to hang around battleships and protect them from torpedo attacks. Secretary Daniels said today these were of the same type as those employed by European navies. Experiments are now going on with the nets aboard one of the ships on the Atlantic fleet. Similar experiments made some time ago produced no very definite results.

The nets are composed of wire links and high speed modern torpedoes have torn their way through them in previous tests. The British battleship Triumph, sunk by a torpedo in the Dardanelles is said to have had nets out which were penetrated. Preparations to equip battleships with nets were made when the last few ships were launched. The nets hang to a depth of thirty feet or more from the ship's side. They constitute a chain mail about her and torpedoes are discharged when they strike the nets. Relatively small damage results except to the net, which is torn, leaving a hole through which a second torpedo can get home. Some officers are not overconfident of the success of the net experiment, but believe it wise to leave no stone unturned in an effort to protect battle ships from submarines. It is said that nets also no use except to ships at anchor. The British navy has always been equipped with nets, but the present tendency, it is said, is to discard them.

AUSTRO-GERMANS MEET REVERSES?

London, July 13.—Contradictory reports regarding the extent of the Austro-German reverse at Krasnik, in Southern Russian Poland, continue, some even claiming that the Austro-Hungarians are contemplating a general retreat; but the mystery of the situation is the persistent silence maintained by Field Marshal Von Mackensen, who, apparently, is making no effort to resume the German advance on Warsaw.

Petrograd reasons this inaction of the Germans as being due to the fear of Field Marshal Von Mackensen that his left flank would be exposed, while the Austrians were on the defensive side, but some fear is expressed by London observers that the brilliant military commanding is an unexpected coup.

The German attack on Souchez, where the French advances had threatened the town of Lille may indicate the arrival on the western front of the long expected Teutonic reinforcements, but evidence still is lacking on any concerted offensive on either side along the battle front in France and Belgium.

Germany and Austria-Hungary, according to dispatches from the Balkan states, are using every source to induce Rumania to join military forces with the central powers, or at least to preserve an attitude of friendly neutrality. It is reported that the Austro-Hungarian minister at Bucharest has offered the Rumanian government liberal territorial compensation for armed assistance, countering Russia's offer of Transylvania with that of Bessarabia. Her reward for friendly neutrality is said to be Bukovina as far as the river Pruth.

From Austrian sources comes a report that Russia is giving substantial proof of the possibility of Rumania accepting use of these Teutonic offers by building trenches and entanglements along her Rumanian frontier.

Bulgaria and Turkey are said to have reached a deadlock in their negotiations on account of the refusal of Sofia to do more than preserve a friendly neutrality.

DR. HOLMES, GEOLOGIST, IS DEAD

Denver, Colo., July 13.—Dr. David Austin Holmes, director of the federal bureau of mines at Washington, and geologist, died at his home here early today of tuberculosis. Dr. Holmes had been in poor health for several months. He came to Denver about four months ago with his family in the hope of regaining strength, but grew steadily weaker.

Dr. Holmes was fifty-five years of age and a native of South Carolina. He had been director of the bureau of mines since its creation by congress in 1910.

THAW CASE MAY GO TO JURY TOMORROW

New York, July 13.—Dr. Austin Flint, the first of the state's alienists to testify in the sanity trial of Harry K. Thaw, was still under cross-examination by Thaw's counsel today. When court adjourned yesterday he was being questioned closely as to his reasons for the belief that Thaw is now insane. It was expected that several hours would be devoted today to this line of inquiry and to a discussion of the form of Paranoia from which he said Thaw is suffering.

The state had one or more other alienists ready to testify before the evidence in rebuttal should begin. Counsel for both sides hoped that the case would be in the hands of the jury by tomorrow. Meantime Thaw spends most of the time while in court selecting the route of the automobile trip he hopes to take to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, if set free.

LEXINGTON SWEEP OFF THEIR FEET IN THE NINTH

Spencerites Pile Up Six Runs In The Eventful Ninth

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 13.—By staging one of the greatest batting rallies ever seen in this city, which brought sorrow to the hearts of local fans, Portsmouth came from behind and copped Monday's game 6 to 4.

Up to the ninth the Colts lead 4 to 0 and it looked like an easy victory for the Gwyn outfit, but Portsmouth saved half of its hits for the ninth and when the cannonading ceased the team was two runs to the good and Lexington witnessed apparent victory turned into defeat.

In their desperation to win both managers used a flock of pitchers and the fans saw a real scrappy ball game despite the fact that there was much hitting. Portsmouth secured a pass and eluded out six hits in the fatal ninth. It was one big fat round and when the smoke cleared away the Colts were trailing in the dust. The same teams play today, Wednesday and Thursday. The games will be bitterly contested and will draw fine crowds. Dilts was again used as a rescue pitcher and again he made good.

FANS HAVE SOURED ON CONNIE MACK

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—Thousands of fans were astounded at the wall put forth by Connie Mack, erstwhile idol of fandom, in which he set forth the reason why he scattered throughout the country his famous pitching staff and shot to pieces his famous one-hundred-thousand-dollar infield, giving full credit to the Federal league's 42-centimeter guns.

"Why," said one, "there's nothing to it; more than that, Mack is getting back to the old days when we faithful ones supported him for years while he built up a team from a bunch of kids. These same kids made it possible to build the magnificent baseball team known as Shibe park. Yet when salaries began to soar, Connie commenced to wobble."

Another dyed-in-the-wool fan commented as follows:
"Now, who ever could possibly accuse Connie Mack of being caught napping when the team began to slip in 1914? There were no signs of slipping till the Braves mauled the confidence out of them."

"Whoever could imagine a man of Eddie Plank's caliber proving disloyal to Mack? Why, when the announcement was made that he had turned Plan, Bender and Coombs loose it was a solar plexus, but what has happened since has simply driven thousands of fans away from Shibe park. This is shown by the attendance and it will be years before they will be won back. Every man loves a winner, but a true sportsman becomes disgusted when a simon pure derby winner is deliberately put out of commission."

The story astounded every baseball fan in Philadelphia—Connie Mack a quitter—the man who has been the very personification of nerve and rugged stick-to-itiveness. The idol has fallen or rather has let himself drop.

LOOKS LIKE HUNTINGTON WILL STAGE COME BACK

The Huntington Herald Dispatch says:

That the proposed transfer of the Chillicothe baseball team to the Ohio State league to Huntington is still in the air and will not come to a head until this morning when the directors of the Huntington baseball company assemble at the Frederick hotel was the statement made last night by President Joe Carr and Dr. H. Stern, representing local business men. Both were confident, however, that the deal will go through today without a hitch. The tentative plans were gone over last night and virtually accepted.

If the directors are willing the Huntington company will take over the Chillicothe team on Friday, the first game being played in Huntington on that day.
The only hitch now is the fact that the directors want to be convinced by President Carr that the Ohio State will finish the season. Huntington is in to stick and wants the league to go through.
President Carr was very enthusiastic. He told Dr. Stern that every town is "well heated" for the last lap. He presented a strong argument. The local magnates do not want to make the sacrifice without strong assurance that they can expect the league to brave the tempest that is besetting all leagues this year.

At the conclusion of the director's meeting President Carr and Dr. Stern will go to Trenton to close the deal with Manager Josh Devore, issuing instructions.
Dr. Stern has a crew of men working at the park, cutting the grass, repairing the club house and dressing up the stands. This is looked upon as a sure omen that today's meeting will be only a formal affair. President Carr arrived in the city last night.

A rumor was afloat in the baseball harbor of Cleveland Monday that Stovall would again be placed in charge of the Cleveland-American league team. The rumor started going the rounds as soon as some fan saw Stovall in the Cleveland grandstand.

Team Home Friday, Charleston To Play

The Portsmouth team will arrive home Friday and will begin a four game series with Charleston on this day. It will be "Ladies Day" and a big flock of fans and fanatics will no doubt be at the park to greet the gallant athletes who have been away for some little time.

Barber Hitting In His Old Time Form

Joe Barber, who is playing first base for the Vaynors team of the Georgia State league, writes that his team was nosed out of the pennant for the first half by the Brunswick team by the narrow margin of one and one-half games. He says, however, that his team has a five game lead for the second half and critics concede that they have the best chance for the flag. Joe writes that he is going fine, having fully recovered his 1914 form and that he is hitting well above the 300 mark.

Barber is one of the best fielding first sackers that ever played in these parts and is regarded as the crack first baseman of the Georgia State League. Like most minor leagues, the Georgia organization looked to be shaky and it was feared the league would blow up. However, at a recent meeting the owners pledged themselves to finish the season. Since that time the attendance has picked up and the outlook is now rosy indeed. Barber will be home about the middle of September.

CHARLESTON IS HAPPY

Charleston, W. Va., July 13. The return of Huntington into the Ohio State league will meet with much favor at Charleston which at the present time is the only West Virginia city, outside of Wheeling, supporting a team in organized baseball. While rivalry between Charleston in the baseball world has always been intense, it has been friendly and Charleston fans are rather confident that Huntington will give better support to a good team either Chillicothe or several other teams which remain in the league.

Nailers Win

ARE NOT GROWN TWICE IN DECADE

"Is Eddie Collins," queries a reader, "as valuable a player as Hans Wagner was at his best?" Handling all the bouquets to Eddie that he can carry, there never was a player as valuable to a ball club as Wagner was for 15 years to Pittsburgh. Eddie Mack says he will build up another machine as great as his last one. But crops like that are not grown twice in a decade.

The Stars Differ

Star baseball players differ when it comes to being ambitious for their sons. Christy Mathewson, evidently wants his Christy, Jr., to follow in his footsteps. The elder Christy takes great pride in the ability of his youngster to play baseball and he encourages him to handle the ball and the bat and takes delight in teaching the lad how to pitch.

On the other hand, Ty Cobb says he doesn't want his son to be a ball player. Ty says that he hopes Ty, Jr., will turn out to be a good lawyer or a successful physician.

CARTER WAS DRIVEN OUT

Two former Portsmouth pitchers were on the slab for the Cleveland Spiders in the first game of the double header Sunday with Kansas City, which Cleveland lost, 8 to 1. Carter pitched five innings, and was touched up for nine hits and six runs. He was succeeded by McCall, who held the Kays hitless and runless for two innings, and then retired in favor of a pinch hitter.

New Man Is Star

Manager Herzog says he has picked up a great infielder in Rodgers and that with a little experience he should develop into a regular. Rodgers is not only a brilliant fielder, but he can kiss the leather with heaps big vigor.

League Magnates Tilt Rule Little

New York, July 13.—At their meeting yesterday, the National league owners made a readjustment of the 21-player limit rule, which has been the subject of much discussion and difference of opinion.

It was decided that hereafter when a player is injured his name, upon the request of his club, will be taken from the limit list, provided that he is kept out of game for ten days or more. It was decided, however, that when a player is suspended his name must still be carried on the list. The magnates informally discussed the general affairs of the league and announced that they found them in excellent condition, not only as manifested in the condition of the National league, but as affecting organized baseball in its entirety.

SWANDER'S FINE WORK

Ball players may come and ball players may go, but Eddie Swander goes on forever, that is hitting over the 300 mark. He is playing golf edge ball for the Springfield, Mass., team and his latest batting average is .318. His team by winning 10 out of the last 12 games has pulled up within two games of the leaders.

COTTRELL HOLDS RECORD

Harry Cottrell the star twirler of the Yankees now holds the strike out record of the city as on July 5 he struck out 17 Victor batsmen in a game at Yonkers park in Cottrell and Hallcliffe the Yankees have two of the best young pitchers in the city. Cottrell has won 9 and lost 2 this season and Hallcliffe 3 and 3. The Yankees have one of the best amateur clubs in the city, and with these two star twirlers, have going great this year.

Giants Are Blanked By Herzog's Redlegs

The Redlegs halted the Giants' rush to the front Monday in decisive style as the McGrawites were blanked, Gene Hale pitching a scoreless brand of baseball. Manager Herzog put a bomb under his batting order with good results. The score:

AN EFFECTIVE PLAN.

In the Marion Star we find this article, which ought to be useful as a hint to Scioto county:

"It develops the Marion county commissioners have adopted the most effective and most economic method of improved road maintenance which is possible, and great good is resulting. Road rollers and crews are being employed on the roads needing attention—rollers hired from contractors, since the county has never invested extensively on its own account—and splendid results are being accomplished. The old stretch of pike is scarified thoroughly, then rolled to a new and even and smooth surface, and the result is most gratifying. There are stretches where the roads in this county thus treated are vastly superior to roads resurfaced at heavy outlay, and those who have watched the work say that the resurfaced roads will wear much better than much of the costly new construction.

Commissioner Thompson says that a sum of $150 to $200 expended on a five-mile stretch each season will keep our stone roads in excellent repair. Obviously, then, this is the course to pursue. Every roller which can be chartered at a reasonable cost ought to be kept busy. When construction makes the chartered roller impossible, the county ought to buy and operate its own rollers. If we can have maintained pikes at little cost, it is infinitely preferable to delayed and expensive general repair.

Chartered rollers and crews are costing twelve dollars per day. It is suggested that three of them can cover ten miles per week. The statement may be strong. But ten miles per week for half the year would mean 250 miles of ideal roads. If the maintenance were kept up on roads when they first begin to rut and wear, the mileage could be largely increased."

It is to be supposed that heretofore Marion county, like almost every other county in the state has been squandering road money for improvements that did not improve. How true that is, at least, as applied to Scioto every one is familiar with by loud and long reiteration, if not by actual observation. In ten years, leaving out the sums spent on brick roads Scioto has spent around three quarters of a million dollars on road repairing. It would be a hardy soul, indeed, that would claim the highways are essentially better than they were at the beginning of the decade.

The way to betterment is long and slow, but it is clear enough. Every dollar possible should be spent on laying down a permanent road, and inversely every dollar possible should be saved in making temporary repairs. Then with this should be builded the policy now being carried out in Marion county, a regular and intelligent system of repair, though we are of the opinion that system could be improved on and a vast sum eventually be saved by creating the patrol system by which the roads would be divided into sections and each section given over to constant care of one individual. With the introduction of the automobile, so that a commissioner could cover frequently and in a short time the general road division allotted to him the patrol system could be made particularly effective.

BUT WHY DEPLORABLE?

Commenting on an incident at Salem, West Virginia, on the Fourth of July, when an anarchistic restaurant keeper ran up the red flag above the stars and stripes, the Huntington Herald-Dispatch observes: "Rioting is deplorable, no matter what the time, place, or circumstance, yet there seems to be cases where it is inevitable and the only answer."

We can not see, in this case, that it was inevitable, if the action of the mob in assembling and coercing the taking down of the flag of anarchy may properly be called rioting. It is a curious fact that there is no law of the land to cover such crime as was perpetrated in the incident under consideration. Perhaps, it is just as well, even better to leave the citizenry itself the privilege, the right of enforcement, even of punishment—it will be certain, sure, instant and altogether impressive. The flag stands for the individual right and protection, the insult to it becomes the wrong to all as individuals and by each and every one must it be so regarded and resented. What was in the thought of the fathers that they did not conceive it necessary to enshroud respect and honor for it by divers pains and penalties, is unknown and immaterial so long as the people themselves hold it reverent and are fit to have its stars and stripes float proud and glorious over them.

There are moments when, as we despairingly think about writing an able article teeming with advice as to how to run the city government, we really wonder how it happened that the mayor never thought of us as suitable material for managing the body nurses out at the hospital but instead had to go and offer the job to various other men about town.

When it comes to street fairs we reckon it will go with the saying that the Peerless out peerless 'em all.

We quite agree with a contemporary in the thought that it is altogether delightful to have the Fourth of July come on Sunday—if one happens to be postmaster.

Rather a curious fact that we hear no mention at all of any Mexican vice president. Certain thing then they can't have any replica of Thomas Marshall in that unblest land.

What so perfect and beyond compare as a July day like Monday!

WILLIAM CAN'T SEE IT.

THE SALE OF MUNITIONS.

One of the best editorials we have seen lately in explanation of the sale of war munitions to warring powers and the unreasonableness of German partisans who are crying out against the sale of munitions to the allied powers, appeared recently in the Cincinnati Times-Star. It is given below and is commended to consideration as an unbiased view of the matter:

"The systematic agitation for an embargo on munitions from this country has already led to the attempted assassination of J. P. Morgan, a bomb outrage in the national Capitol, and numerous depredations to which more or less publicity has been given. It is now apparent that an effort will be made to inject the question as an issue into the next national campaign.

"The question should be examined entirely from an American viewpoint. There is no rule of international law that prohibits the exportation of munitions. Germany has been an exporter of arms during wars in which she was not engaged. Any nation could approach the foundries of the Kruppis, who have shown a fine impartiality in the sale of munitions. When the present war began, our laws, to which no previous objection had been made, permitted the American manufacturer of war material to bargain with the world. But the allies speedily secured control of the seas, and closed German markets to contraband. It was then that partisans asked the United States to change its laws to fit existing conditions according to the desires of the German government. In other words, Uncle Sam was asked to adapt the law of the land to the necessities of one of the belligerents, about as unneutral an act as the imagination can conceive this side of a declaration of war. It is our plain duty to preserve the status of our legislation so far as it relates to the warring nations.

"If the United States should place an embargo on arms upon the demand of one of the belligerents, the possibilities of the future would not be pleasant to contemplate. In the event of war with Japan, our nation would be forced to look to Europe for assistance in the supply of ordnance, ammunition and all the other paraphernalia that goes with modern warfare. It would be then that our embargo would rise to plague us. Japan could insist with reason, employing our former embargo as a precedent, that European nations were violating 'more enlightened' international law by selling us munitions. Indeed, we should have no moral right to ask Europe to supply us with shells with which to kill Japanese. And by the time we had sufficiently equipped our factories for our own needs, fully prepared Japan would be holding an exposition on the Pacific coast to celebrate the accession of American territory.

"The absence of an embargo, however, is now creating in the United States a class of labor skilled in the manufacture of munitions as well as factories equipped for the purpose. At the end of the war Uncle Sam will know more about the manufacture of ordnance and shells than he ever did before. We shall become far less dependent than we were upon Essen, Crenset and Sheffield for our self defense.

"And as to the moral phase of Uncle Sam's new business, it is well to remember that the old gentleman did not start the war, he does not want to get into the war, and he did not go armed for years as if fighting were the chief business of man."

OLD NEW YORK

New York, July 13.—Those quarrelsome neighbors The Tribune and The Sun have at last separated. In the decades that they have been side by side many wars have been fought, but now The Sun has left its little four-story brick home for a sky piercing pile of marble and stone.

Many were the feuds, interchanges, of editorial thunders and wordy battles carried on across the narrow intervening party walls of The Sun and The Tribune. Some one once wrote: "The Sun is a little bit of humor, almost surrounded by The Tribune."

And many are the New Yorkers who remember the day when a small fire in The Tribune shop induced the fire department to lavishly thousands of gallons of water upon the establishment and inspired Lindsay Denison to write in The Sun the next day "But the Tribune came out this morning just as dry as ever."

Now that The Sun has gone to its new home many wonder how Mr. Dana's owl will enjoy his new perch, whether the monumental cockroaches of other generations will accomplish the great begin and what effect the elevator will have upon the editorial pages of The Sun.

The Socialists in New York object strenuously to the fuss that the 'capitalist press' makes about the Morgan shooting. "If he were a poor man," one Socialist told Franklin P. Adams, "there would not be so much publicity."

And observed Adams, "If he were a poor man, Frank Holt, the assassin, would not have gous off his head about him either."

Young Julius Morgan, the son of the wounded financier, declared that he was amazed at the accuracy the newspapers showed in handling the accident. The day following the shooting the stories contained the news that Mr. Morgan

Channing Pollock came up from his summer home at Shoreham the other day when the city was sweltering and sauntered up Fifth Avenue around parade time. He suddenly burst forth with a boisterous laugh just as if he was a member of the League of Mirth.

It developed, however, that he was merely exercising the Divine Right of Laughter because it was the first time he had seen such a thing. A trim young thing, so warm that the child was like a glow in her month, ambled by with a fur boa knotted about her neck. It was new stuff to Pollock now that he has become a gentleman farmer.

TAMME PLACED UNDER ARREST; FOLLOWING DEATH OF JENKINS

William Tamme, former deputy marshal of New Boston, and one of the participants in the pistol fight at New Boston Saturday evening in which Alva Jenkins suffered wounds that resulted in his death the following day, was placed under arrest Monday evening on a warrant from Mayor Davis' court, charging him with shooting with intent to kill.

Tamme is still in bed at his home on Grace street, nursing three flesh wounds which he sustained in the affray, and could not be brought to the mayor's office. After a conference with the county authorities, it was decided not to place a guard over him, as little fear is entertained that he will endeavor to escape. The wounded man claims that he shot in self defense, and that he will have no trouble proving his innocence. A man named Cooper is attending him.

As soon as he is able to be out, Tamme will be formally arraigned before Mayor Davis on the charge. The mayor stated Tuesday morning that the charge would probably be changed to murder during the day, but that he wanted to talk to prosecuting Attorney Micklethwait before that was done. He added that no new evidence had been unearthed in the case.

Prosecuting Attorney Micklethwait stated Monday afternoon that there was a strong likelihood that the shooting would be investigated during the present special session of the grand jury.

The body of Alva Jenkins, the victim, was removed from the hospital to his late home in New Boston Monday afternoon in the Daehler funeral car. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at two o'clock in the New Boston Baptist church, in charge of Rev. Morris Bridwell. Interment will take place in the Wheelersburg cemetery.

Found Brooch

The valuable brooch lost by Mrs. J. I. Hudson was found by Police Clerk Dennis Coriell in the lobby of the Marling Bros. & company's store Monday evening and returned to the owner. The brooch contained an English coat of arms, encrusted with garnets and set in solid gold. It is a highly prized gift from an old friend and Mrs. Hudson was elated over its recovery.

There are now 24 patients at the hospital. Drs. Fletcher and Cooperider, Columbus specialists, performed a serious operation at the hospital yesterday.

POLICE RAID WEBB HOME

A police squad raided the home of Mrs. Addie Webb, on Gay St., between Tenth and Eleventh streets at midnight Monday, arresting her and a couple who registered as Sophia Ificks and Clarence Dement.

According to the official report the Webb woman was undressed when the officers entered and the other woman was sitting on the side of a bed pretending to be reading a book. All were locked up at the city prison. The officials claim to have received repeated complaints about the Webb home, and claim that they have given her several warnings.

Dement attempted to escape through an upstairs window but ran into the arms of a policeman. The trio entered pleas of not guilty in court Tuesday. The two women claimed that they had been at the street fair and that they asked Dement to take them home. Mrs. Hicks when asked to explain why she did not return to her own home in the East End said she was afraid owing to the lateness of the hour for her life has been threatened by several persons. They claimed they had not been back at the Webb home more than fifteen minutes when the officers came.

The court took the view that Mrs. Webb should know better than associate with Mrs. Hicks who is having trouble with her husband, Arthur Hicks, and only last week staged a hair pulling match in police court. Mrs. Webb was fined $25 while the other two were let off with $10 each. Mrs. Webb's husband was killed in a coal mine in West Virginia a few years ago.

Unnecessary Risk? Mr. Bryan Explains

Hermosa Beach, Calif., July 13.—William J. Bryan, former secretary of state, who is spending a brief vacation here with his son, issued a statement today in explanation of what he meant by "unnecessary risk" contained in his comment in connection with the last German note. He said any traveler takes unnecessary risk when he goes into the war zone on a belligerent ship, knowing that it is subject to attack by a submarine. A traveler also takes unnecessary risks when he rides on a neutral ship carrying ammunition. "I would believe that our government would be justified in separating passengers from ammunition, but until this is done, American travelers would be justified in refusing to take passage on a belligerent ship or a neutral ship carrying ammunition.

"If patriotism requires a man to risk his life for his country when his country is engaged in war, it would seem to be patriotic for a citizen to avoid risks that might involve his country in war."

The Movies

Elsie Janis in "Betty in Search of a Thrill" Columbia Today

Elsie Janis is here depicted in a comedy written by herself, and in her own vivacious manner drives home the pitfalls into which any inexperienced girl is apt to stray.

When Betty arrives home from the convent to visit her uncle's family, they are careful to hide all extreme low-necked gowns and other worldly things, lest they shock the devout convent girl. Betty finds them, and instead of shocking, they fascinate. They instill in her a desire to know more about such things which the world, continues. Therefore, when Jim (Owen Moore), a young bachelor, proposes to her, she frankly tells him she loves him, but must see the world first. Angriely he leaves her as she sits before the quaint old fireplace, whose dreamy flames seem to paint wondrous pictures, which tempt her to a knowledge of things to her unknown.

Out into the world she goes. She learns, but she pays for her lesson with many a pang and heart-ache. Her experiences?—Thrills galore. At the vital moment, when Betty is about to faint dead away, Jim, the faithful, appears just in time to catch her in his arms.

What a relief then for Betty to awake and find it is all a dream. The warm hugs the flames throw upon the leather panels of the beautiful room make her appreciate the full meaning of a home. Jim, coming in to plead his cause anew, has no trouble in convincing her that the world and its false pleasures are not what they seem.

Just think of seeing a star like Elsie Janis in five reels of pictures for 10 cents. Don't overlook your opportunity today.

First show this afternoon at 1:30, then at 2:45 and 4:00. First evening show at 6:30, then at 7:15 and 9:00.

Be sure and come early. You will find the theatre cool and pleasant these hot afternoons and evenings.

Charlie Chaplin At The Exhibit Today

Another Charlie Chaplin picture is being shown at the Exhibit today. Manager Law announces the presentation of this favorite comedian in his comedy hit, "The Thief Catcher." This cleverly written and staged comedy is a screen from start to finish, keeping the patrons in one continuous round of laughter. It is the best "blue" dispeller in the world. Don't miss it. On tonight's program will also be found a clever drama entitled "The Burned Hand." This is a highly refreshing comedy and goes to complete an exceptionally good bill today. Tomorrow's big feature will be a Keystone comedy special production. Chester Conklin takes the leading role and gives his audiences some side-splitting comedy all the way through. "The Cannon Ball" is the name of this special picture and as it is a first run picture just out of the studio patrons of the Exhibit do not want to miss it.

Iceman Injured

James W. Wilson, an employee of Albert Maier, had his right ankle and foot hurt in an accident that occurred in front of the city building Tuesday morning.

Wilson had just stepped on the fifth wheel of an ice wagon when the mule team in charge of Driver Alvin Schneider, suddenly turned catching his foot before he could jump. He was assisted into Dr. W. E. Gault's office where his wounds were attended to. It was not thought that any bones were broken. He was later removed to his home at 1680 Gallia street.

ENGINEER SUFFERS FRACTURED SKULL

Jacob Krauser, aged 40 years, an N. & W. engineer of 792 Harvard Place, was almost fatally injured when he struck a bridge rod in leaning out of a cab window looking for a signal as his train was approaching Vera Junction Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock. Krauser's skull was fractured just above the left eye, his right eye was completely closed and swollen to the size of a hen egg and he received an ugly looking scalp wound seven inches long. He was hurriedly removed to the Hutchins street crossing on the engine which was detached from the train and taken to Dr. C. G. Braunlin's office where his wounds were dressed. He was later removed in Dr. Braunlin's automobile to Hempstead hospital where he lapsed into an unconscious state but was soon after revived. He was also suffering nasal hemorrhages but Dr. Braunlin believed the man would recover from his injuries.

BELIEVE FLOOD WALL WILL BE DECIDED ON

Definite steps towards authorizing the building of the proposed extension to the flood wall will be taken at an adjourned session of city council tonight. Final plans and estimates for the project will be submitted by

City Engineer George S. Wilhelm and the proposed improvement will be considered from every possible angle. Any interested property owners or citizens generally will be given a hearing should they wish to present their views to council. It is expected that council will authorize the required bond issue for the improvement for as it is the contract for the extension can not now be possibly let before October.

Bigamist Wants Out Of Pen So He Can Help His Mother

William Curtis Kitchen, a former N. & W. fireman, who climaxed a rather checkered career some months past by his marriage to a prominent young woman of Cass, W. Va., some months ago, although he had never been divorced from his wife in Portsmouth, is striving to obtain his release from the state prison at Mountaineer, W. Va.

Writing to Police Chief W. T. McCarty, the convicted bigamist asks him to furnish him with a letter attesting to his past record, which he declares was good, although he alleges relatives at the time of his trial went out of their way to try to show him up as a crook.

Kitchen claims to be the victim of circumstances. He says he was scared into marriage and then proceeded to make some startling statements. He says that he was led into pleading guilty to a bigamy charge under the promise of being let off with one year's sentence, provided he did not divulge the conditions of his marriage. He says that he never stood trial, but instead of receiving one year, was sentenced to five years. The testimony of his brother-in-law was damaging to him, he said, while he, a stranger and having no money with which to provide defense, was unable to get any consideration. He also scores his Portsmouth wife for testifying against him.

Kitchen is trying to secure a parole, he says, in order that he might be of some assistance to his widowed mother, who lives at 3042 Gallia street, and who, he says, is badly in need of his support.
